Holiday

19" Tall. Rooted Hair Walking Doll. Fully jointed even at her knees. She sits—She stands—She kneels. Lead her by the hand and she walks and turns her head from side to side. Unbreakable plastic body and legs. Soft, lifelike vinyl face and hands. Sleeping eyes. Dressed in beautiful taffeta party dress and real Boucle (lace) sailor hat. Included in her wardrobe are shoes and stockings, printed picolay street dress, pedal pusher shorts with attached matching shirt, adorable sun-back dress with separate fringed stole, a bathrobe complete with tassled sash. She has sunglasses, roller skates, bedroom slippers and pocketbook. She comes complete in an extravagant steamer trunk which has room for all her clothes and a drawer for her accessories. She has her own hair curlers for curling and setting her rooted hair—which is actually imbedded in her scalp so that it cannot come out and feels and looks as if it were real. Endless hours of play.

No. F1777P1070 . . . . . Retail $15.95
No. F1787P930—Same as above in same Steamer trunk—does not kneel. Ret. $13.95

Weep 'n' Sleep

WEEPS REAL TEARS, DRINKS, WETS, SITS, SLEEPS, CRIES, BATHES.

This little tot is almost as much trouble as a real baby. She'll drink from her own bottle and wet her little diaty—but, no fear, there's an extra dry one to change. Squeeze her gently and she'll cry actual tears and make herself heard, too.

She's 16½" tall and is all washable lifelike vinyl. Has fully jointed arms and legs.

Complete Layette includes 2 diapers, bottle, pacifier, Organdy dress, Knit booties, soap, cleansing tissues and powder puffs.

No. F1778P530 . . . . . Retail $7.95

Royal Wedding

The Princess of the doll world—in her shimmering Brocade and Satin Gown. Unusual, new neckline and standing collar to show off her pearls. Long nylon tulle veil worn over her face. She'll coyly lift it for her groom's long awaited kiss. Sh—h—she's wearing lovely, full length stockings and a blue garter, too.

The Princess herself—she's 25" tall and she walks. Her pert head is soft vinyl and her radiant saran hair is rooted (actually imbedded) in her scalp. She stands alone, sits, and sleeps like an angel.

Best Friend

29" Life size Walker—you almost expect her to breathe. She kneels, sits in lifelike positions because she has knee, hip, and shoulder joints. Her "Best Friend" walks. Her thick glossy saran hair is rooted right into her scalp—permanently. It can be curled, waved, washed and set. She wears a gorgeous organdy party dress and matching bonnet trimmed with fine lace. Her vinyl head is caressable as real skin. Body and legs and arms are unbreakable plastic.

No. F1777P1325 . . . . . Retail $19.95

Cuddle Love

Wears size 1 Baby Clothes

The whole world loves this baby. She's a big 26 inches—Life Size—and dressed in her new polished cotton "windbreaker" snowsuit—with a full length zipper which goes right to the bottom of her leg. Notice the knit cuffs to keep baby snug and warm. She's made of cuddly washable latex, and her jointed, pudgy arms are vinyl—with one little hand all curled up ready to suck her thumb. Baby head with sleeping eyes, is vinyl, too. Complete with plastic rattle.

No. F1772P670 . . . . . Retail $9.95

Bendee Walker

Does almost everything any little girl can do. She's smoothly jointed at the knees, hips, and shoulders. She can kneel for prayers, sit correctly on a chair, bend her knees. Her body and legs are unbreakable plastic. Her chubby face is soft lifelike vinyl, and her saran hair is rooted. Arms are soft, natural feeling vinyl. She stands erect, too, and walks when you lead her. She cries when put down.

No. F1775P735—20" . . Ret. $10.95
No. F1774P1000—23" . . Ret. $14.95

Honey Lee

This little ponytail darling is as durable and lovable as she is cute. She's all soft lifelike vinyl from her head to her toes and her ponytail is rooted in her head (imbedded like real hair). It can be combed, curled, washed and waved endlessly, without damage to the hair or the doll. She has big, blue, go-to-sleep eyes, and a coo type voice. She's 17½ inches tall and she's dressed in lovely printed broadcloth that has whispy organdy sleeves. A perfect playtime companion.

7 WHEN "BABEE" CRIES, TEARS RUN DOWN HER CHEEKS. She drinks, wets, then little "mommy" has to care for her! Almost as cuddly as a real baby, she's completely made of soft, skin-like vinyl plastic; "mommy" will love to bathe her. Rooted hair, arms and legs are jointed, and it's so much fun to put her in little baby poses. When you hug her . . . she coos; lay her down, her big lashed eyes close for her nap. Looks so lovable and sweet in her outfit. "Matching" Pink and White cotton knit cap, sweater, pants, and booties; diaper. Also comes with diaper bag, extra diaper, soap, nursing bottle with nipple, pacifier, cleansing tissue and bib.
16 inches tall.
35 J 3795. Shipping weight 2 lbs. 6 oz. 5.98

8 BUTCH IS A SCRAPPY ATHLETIC LOOKING LITTLE SHAVER who will pose like a real baby because his arms and legs are jointed. Feed him from his own bottle when he gets hungry, he wets his diaper, then "mommy" can change it. If he gets tired, just lay him down . . . he'll close his eyes and go right to sleep. When he awakes from his nap his little "mother" will love to bathe him . . . his body is lifelike vinyl plastic, so soft and cuddly! Vinyl plastic head feels just like real baby skin, has molded hair. "Butch" will arrive dressed in a diaper, and you can bet a husky youngster like him has his own nursing bottle and nipple along!

I'M BETTY LOU . . . AND FULL OF FUN

I'm Betty Lou and real as life, 'cause I can walk, sit . . . even kneel, because my knees are jointed. I'll just love to have my new playmate wash, brush and set my long gleaming hair (it's rooted in). My body is of durable plastic; my head is skin like vinyl. My eyes have long lashes and close when I sleep. I cry sometimes. I'll arrive, dressed just like my big sister, in bright plaid rayon dress with organdy apron, pinafore top, petticoat, panties, socks, shoes.

DELLA ROBBIA

A pattern of sheer beauty and charm with a romantic background. Designing genius has translated into lovely sterling the spirit of eternal youth from the works of Luca Della Robbia, famous sculptor of the fifteenth century. Bright Butler finish.

BRIDAL BOUQUET

All the beauty and charm of flowers, from the delicate forget-me-not to the shank of the handle to the wild rose of late summer and Autumn's Chrysanthemum, are brought out in bold relief giving it a special kind of loveliness not found in any other pattern. It is of substantial weight yet delicately balanced for hand comfort in use.

Chateau Rose*

SOLID STERLING SILVER

The romantic beauty of yesteryear becomes the fashion of today. The revival of elegance in home decoration reaches back to the Regency and Louis XIV eras, with a touch of Victorian to add zest to the ensemble.

"Chateau Rose" is a happy blending of the traditional beauty of these time-favored motifs. As they have lived in the past . . . "Chateau Rose" will live in the future, to become one of your cherished heirlooms of tomorrow. Substantial in weight throughout.

Its beautiful highlights are softened to a silvery lustre by its smooth butler finish.

2 NEW BROWNING
Lighter than Lightweight Shotguns

to be introduced this fall

The ever growing numbers of extra lightweight advocates must be recognized. To meet this significant demand, we will have available, by fall, two new models.

The TWENTYWEIGHT—12 Gauge—Double Automatic an addition to the Double Automatic line of 12 gauge shotguns; the Standard in 12 gauge weight, the Twelvette in 16 gauge weight

NOW the new Twentyweight at an even 6 pounds

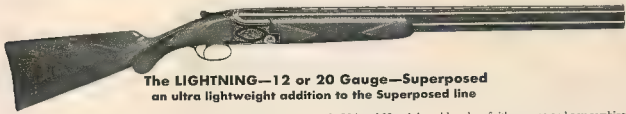
Yes, a 12 gauge shotgun which in weight, balance, and handling qualities is comparable to the lightest 20 gauge, providing every desirable characteristic of a small bore but the superior shot pattern, the hit-ability of the 12—and the same soft 20 gauge recoil with 12 gauge loads.

This lightest of 12 gauge shotguns is designed primarily for field use where speed and lightweight are most desired, and field loads not exceeding 1⅛ ounces of shot are generally used

Handsome in appearance with distinctive black receiver, gold engraving, gold trigger. All barrels of special steel in 26½ inch length Chokes of any preference from full to cylinder.

Retail with plain matted barrel $143, with new ventilated rib barrel $163



The LIGHTNING—12 or 20 Gauge—Superposed
an ultra lightweight addition to the Superposed line

Identical to the regular Superposed, except in weight. The 12 gauge models will average an even 7 pounds; the 20 gauge an even 6 pounds

The new Lightning will have particular appeal for upland hunting—it's lightning-fast, and what a pleasure to carry. The same impeccable balance characteristic of all Superposed shotguns has been carefully duplicated.

All models Grades I through V are designed with ventilated ribs in 26½ and 28 inch barrel lengths, of either gauge and any combination of chokes desired. Any standard 2¾ inch factory loaded ammunition may be used.

Lightnings with extra sets of barrels are available on special order or now a combination set if preferred—one set of Standard weight barrels and one set of Lightning weight.

Retail in 12 or 20 gauge, Grade I $275, Grade II $360, Grade III $410, Grade IV $535, Grade V $630.

With New Page Gage
Here's How It Works . . .

You just turn the platen to the GREEN FIGURE corresponding to the length of the paper you are using, insert a sheet in the usual way, and start typing. As you get down to within 2½ inches of the bottom of the page, RED FIGURES show you exactly how much space is left—and keep showing you, right down to the end! PAGE GAGE eliminates solid pages of spoiled paper, saves retyping—keeps pages neat. Saves time and paper!

*French Scroll

SOLID STERLING SILVER

A flourishing prelude to the styles of tomorrow

The fantasy of scrolls from the LOUIS XV and LOUIS XVI periods . . . richly and delicately moulded into a series of sweeping graceful curves, unbroken, yet carved to reflect beautifully the scintillating high-lights created by its soft undulating surfaces . . . gives life to this lovely pattern.

Here, in ALVIN'S newest pattern in sterling . . . FRENCH SCROLL . . . is a style developed in keeping with the present-day demand for modernized sterling patterns from the classical period that prevailed during the reign of the Kings LOUIS, in the years 1700 to 1800. Soft Butler Finish.

*Prince Eugene

SOLID STERLING SILVER

An authentic interpretation of the late 17th and early 18th century French Renaissance. A fashion created for the lavish use of Kings LOUIS XIII and LOUIS XIV and in high favor today as an ultimate in decorative beauty.
PRINCE EUGENE for whom this exquisite pattern was named, was born in Paris in 1663, and spent much time in lovely Vienna, then the seat of continental culture. When Vienna was threatened by the Turks, it was PRINCE EUGENE of Savoy who was its defender—and his successes gained for him the everlasting gratitude of the people.
PRINCE EUGENE is a heavy-weight, complete open-stock pattern . . . furnished in beautiful soft Butler finish. All Blades are Mirror-Finish, Stainless Steel. Illustrated . . . Luncheon Knife and Fork, Teaspoon and Salad Fork . . . actual size.

Colt's Gun Museum Gift to Connecticut

The $1,000,000 Colt's Museum, containing one of the world's most fabulous collections of firearms, was given to the State of Connecticut July 24 and will be housed in the Great Hall in the State Library in Hardford.

The gift was made by L. D. Silberstein, chairman of the Penn-Texas Corp, the Pratt & Whitney Co., and president of the company's foundation which owns the exhibit.

Governor Ribicoff was notified of the gift in a letter from Joseph E. Lowes of Pratt & Whitney.

The collection has been housed since 1940 in a small two-room museum at Colt's Patent Arms Mfg. Co., Hartford.

The Colt's museum consists of hundreds of valuable documents, firearms and other material that tell the 120-year story of the company

Vietnam Appeals for Athletic Goods

Trojan Plastic Case Lined With Flannel

Made of 12-gauge calf-grained embossed plastic, Noble's Trojan gun case has the added appeal of flannel lining over felt padding.

It is designed to keep dirt and moisture out and to resist oil and grease, cleaning easily with a damp cloth. Sturdy plastic binding with rivets at points of strain impart strength to the construction, which also utilizes strong thread in the sewing. Lengths are 42, 46, 48, 50 and 52 inches. The case features a 16-inch zipper opening and plastic handles. Colors are walnut brown, red and hunter green. Noble Products Co.

HUNTING PREVIEW

Tapateo Adds Vest for Deer Hunters

Besides the regular high-styled, comfort-packed coats, pants, jackets and caps in the Cumberland line of hunting and shooting cloths, a deer hunting vest and an auxiliary game bag will be offered for the 1956-57 season.

The Cumberland deer hunting vest, Style 1760, is bright to separate the hunter from the hunted. Comfortable and lightweight, it can be worn over regular or heavy hunting clothes. It is made from heavy snag-proof duck with two sets of buttons at the front for adjustable closure. Individually packaged in a plastic bag, the 1760 comes in a small size for chests 36 to 44 inches and large for 44 to 58 inches. The American Pad & Textile Co.

Seven in Industry Named to NDER

Seven industry leaders are among 83 executive employes of private industry who have accepted membership in the National Defense Executive Reserve established by President Eisenhower. Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, who appointed the Reserve, announced July 13 it includes Harold G Erskine, Warren Van R. Gilbert and Harry L. Smith, Jr., of the Aluminum Co. of America, Pittsburgh, Pa.; John A. Field, Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Co., New York, N. Y.; George E. Lawrence, Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., Washington, D. C., Thomas S. Mohr, Taylor Instrument Companies, Rochester, N. Y. and Albert H. Wechsler, Converse Rubber Corp.

Weeks said more than 300 persons have expressed their willingness to serve in response to 620 invitations issued last March, and many others have withheld decision, pending final passage of the Defense Production Act as amended.

Industry executives who agree to serve accept emergency responsibilities and also agree to maintain liaison with the government agency to which they are assigned during peacetime.

In time of emergency all would become available immediately for full-time assignment in the Business and Defense Services Administration.

A jet outfitted with Autonetics Flight Test equipment emits smoke puffs from special wing tip pods — air markers for checking a control system's accuracy.

Flight test...the judge and jury of tomorrow's electro-mechanical air crews

It is quite a challenge to develop and produce automatic control systems for aircraft that—as yet—exist only in the minds of design engineers. But to test these systems—at the hypersonic speeds and extreme altitudes where they must finally operate—is equally difficult.

This is one of the jobs AUTONETICS is doing for the Department of Defense. To do it has required the development of ingenious flight test techniques. With a large and varied fleet of planes—ranging from subsonic craft to supersonic jets—AUTONETICS engineers put projects on trial under conditions that are dress rehearsals of tomorrow's tactical situations.

Yet that's only part of the story. These control systems are already far in advance of accuracy and precision standards available in existing test equipment. So AUTONETICS Flight Test experts have devised special instrumentation and intricate new data gathering systems that, in themselves, constitute a whole new concept of test techniques and procedures.

This is only one reason why AUTONETICS—in ten short years—has become a recognized leader in the production of flight controls, autonavigators, weapons director controls, computers, and other automatic control systems.

For more detailed information—or for employment in this challenging and growing field—please write: AUTONETICS, Dept. W-6, 12214 Lakewood Boulevard, Downey, California.

landing the hot ones

Two "hot" performers by Douglas . . . landing gear by Axelson.

The DC-3/C-47, the plane that won't wear out, has been overworked and overloaded for more than 20 years . . . for 150 scheduled airlines in 70 countries . . . through two wars, in every theater of operation, in every major campaign and invasion. And over half of the 12,000 DC-3s built by Douglas have been equipped with Axelson-produced shock struts.

Today, Axelson landing gears continue to prove themselves on Douglas "hot ones" like the F4D, the carrier-based high-altitude interceptor and world's record-holder for the 3 kilometer and 100-kilometer courses. From a standing start, the bat-winged jet leaps to 10,000 feet in less than a minute. Mission accomplished, it touches down on Axelson-produced landing gear.

Douglas Aircraft Company is only one of the many aircraft manufacturers who turn to Axelson for the expert solution of tough component and sub-assembly problems. Call on our engineering staff for the planning and successful completion of your aircraft programs.

RESEARCH KEEPS B.F.Goodrich FIRST IN RUBBER

Breaks the ice faster for flying salesmen

WHATEVER the destination—sales call, board meeting or engineering conference—today's flying executives can't afford to be grounded. That's why most executive planes of twin-engine size or larger are equipped with B. F. Goodrich De-Icers. And why many executives are ordering De-Icers as original equipment on new planes like the Aero Commander (top photo), Beechcraft C 50 (middle) and Cessna 310 (bottom).

B. F. Goodrich De-Icers make ice removal a snap! Small tubes within the De-Icer boot inflate and deflate to snap ice off cleanly into the airstream. The cycle operates automatically.

Modern De-Icers, like those shown above, are tailored to exact shape and simply cemented on without stretching or mechanical attachments. Result: smoother fit, easier maintenance, longer life.

For time-conscious businessmen, BFG De-Icers are low-cost insurance. They save time, eliminate delay, get executives to important appointments in spite of icing conditions encountered on the way.

It adds up to better service from executive planes rolling off production lines today. B. F. Goodrich engineers are ready to assist in the design of De-Icers for original equipment. Put our 26 years of experience in ice protection to work for you by writing . . . The B. F. Goodrich Company, Tire & Equipment Div., Aeronautical Sales, Akron, Ohio. Cable TUBEDODGE.

Blades that save pilots from close shaves with ice

THERE'S no need to dread propeller ice when blades, cuffs and spinners have complete protection like the Lockheed C-130 Hercules shown above. B. F. Goodrich electrical De-Icers are designed to put the required amount of heat on these vital propeller parts.

Resistance wires are sandwiched between rubber plies to form the desired heat pattern—then vulcanized into flexible, lightweight units for cementing directly to metal surfaces.

B. F. Goodrich electrical propeller De-Icers fit skin-tight around tricky curves and corners—give added protection against eroding effects of rain, sand and dust.

If you are looking for one of the most efficient ways to provide spot heat—whether for ice protection or heat control—B. F. Goodrich electric De-Icers and heaters are the answer. Successful applications include antenna masts, wing and empennage leading edges, oil lines, oil cooler heaters, air intakes and radar equipment.

Perhaps these examples suggest a possible solution to your own ice or temperature control problems. B. F. Goodrich engineers will be pleased to give you expert help. Aviation Products Division, The B. F. Goodrich Company, Akron, Ohio.

BANGOR
Queen City of the East...

Bangor, the gateway to northern and eastern Maine, is located on the west bank of the Penobscot River only a few miles from the Atlantic Ocean. First settled in 1769, and incorporated as a city in 1834, it has now become a prosperous and progressive community with approximately 32,000 inhabitants. It is served by all methods of modern transportation and has long been recognized as the financial and commercial center for the constantly growing eastern and northern sections of Maine.

Bangor offers exceptional educational advantages, and Bangor's high school ranks with the finest in New England. In addition to the public schools, there are John Bapst high school, parochial, private and commercial schools. The University of Maine is in Orono, eight miles from Bangor.

It is possible to drive by automobile within an hour to many of Maine's beautiful lakes, streams, brooks, mountains, and to the seashore where recreation awaits all members of your family. Because of the many fine hotels, motels and restaurants within Bangor, it has for many years served as the headquarters of numerous hunting and fishing parties from practically every section of the country.

Bangor is proud of its many fine churches, parks, and theaters; two daily newspapers, morning and evening; three radio stations and two television stations furnishing complete facilities for advertising publicity, and emanation of news.

Bangor, in the heart of Vacationland, invites you to come for a visit or come here to live.

How To Become A GAME WARDEN-GOVT. HUNTER

INVESTIGATE NEW CAREER OPPORTUNITIES IN THE GREAT OUTDOORS.

Why just "put in your time" on a dull, uninteresting job living only for the moments you can go hunting, fishing, or camping? Stop dreaming about a wonderful outdoor career. Do something about it! Prepare NOW—at home, spare-time. Learn how to apply for the fascinating conservation job you've always wanted. It's easy, fun enjoyable as reading your favorite outdoor magazine! Let your love of field and forest guide you to real success and happiness, as it has so many others! Discover how easy it may be to prepare yourself, to go after and GET, the outdoor position of your choice—ALMOST REGARDLESS OF YOUR EDUCATION OR TRAINING! Mail coupon below today!

WHICH OF THESE FASCINATING CAREERS DO YOU WANT?

• GAME WARDEN A rewarding job for the conservation-minded sportsman! Wardens protect wildlife, apprehend law violators . . . often supervise refuges, feeding stations, make game counts, tag wildfowl, etc. Starting salaries are often about $3410 per year. Opportunities galore in this general field! Prepare Now—at Home!

• GOVT. HUNTER You can hunt and get paid for it! Most states have a predatory animal problem—hire hunters to trap, shoot and poison mountain lions, coyotes, wolves, etc. Some states pay up to $150.00 bounty per major predator plus salary. Skilled hunters may earn up to $750 and more, in one month! Education requirements are almost non-existent — hunting "know how" is what counts!

• FORESTRY—WORK Stimulating career for the man who loves the great outdoors! Work amid towering timber, crystal clear mountain streams, crisp, bracing weather. Rangers protect trees against fire, insects, diseases . . supervise patrols, construction crews. Beginners often start at about $300 monthly. Opportunities now open in many areas! Prepare now—at home!

• FISH HATCHERY WORK A job a fisherman might dream about! Artificially propagate trout, bass, pike, etc. . . stock depleted lakes and streams. Workers keep daily food and growth records, ship eggs and fry . . construct and maintain hatchery equipment. Beginners start at up to $300 monthly. Foremen earn up to $7000 yearly. Almost unlimited opportunities. Prepare NOW—at home.

• PRIVATE FISHERIES & GAME FARMS Because of increasing hunting and fishing pressure, private preserves, farms, "Catch 'em Yourself" Trout Pools are springing up all over the U.S. These establishments urgently need qualified employees. They are in business to make money—pay well above average. Prepare NOW—at home!

COMPARE THESE MANY EXCITING ADVANTAGES!

NO SPECIAL SCHOOLING OR TRAINING REQUIRED You don't need a college education, even a High School Diploma, for many fine beginning positions. Hunting, farming, military service common skills—all help to get most outdoor jobs.

AGE NO HANDICAP. Positions are open to men between 17 and 45 years of age, in most states.

GOOD PAY, SECURITY Start at up to $3000 a year, with regular pay increases! Work toward a $6000 to $10,000 position! You'll never worry about your employer 'going out of business' or unjust firing!

PRESTIGE Command the respect of others! Your uniform symbolizes the vigilance needed to conserve America's precious natural resources.

HEALTHFUL, INTERESTING WORK. Experience the stimulating sense of well being you enjoy on vacations and outings, all the time! You'll live better and longer in a clean, bracing outdoor environment. Raise your family in health and happiness!

BENEFIT FROM LOW COST HOUSING RETIREMENT INCOME, many other valuable benefits—possible only with some outdoor government career! No job offers you more of the truly important things in life! Learn now how to apply.

CAREER CONSERVATIONISTS ARE URGENTLY NEEDED!

With more and more sportsmen taking to field and forest . . with states allocating more money than ever for conservation career opportunities are [illegible] high! Make the great outdoors "Your Business" . . . the finest career a sportsman could desire! We are not government sponsored but dedicated to helping you get ready for the next examination in your area! BEECHCRAFT has designed and built another outstanding military trainer at its own expense and risk — and now offers it to the military services throughout the free world as the WORLD'S MOST ECONOMICAL JET TRAINER.

The Model 73 Beechcraft Jet Mentor is based on the famous Beechcraft T-34 Mentor, in daily use by the military forces of the United States and many foreign countries.

In flight and handling characteristics the two airplanes are so alike that transition from one to the other will be a very simple step for a student; or in fact the student could start his training with the Jet Mentor without previous flight experience. Inquiries are invited

OIL MAN in a hurry

HELICOPTER OR BOAT . . .
FIFTEEN MINUTES OR TWO HOURS?

Magnolia Petroleum Company answers its own offshore transportation problem with a Bell Model 47G helicopter. Magnolia considers this versatile aircraft an indispensable time saver...ferrying executives and supervisory personnel, keeping its costly offshore operation moving, saving 105 minutes from the time it formerly took to make the trip by boat . . . and it's a morale builder, too. Workers know it's only a matter of minutes by helicopter from rig to shore in an emergency.

With float landing gear, the Bell helicopter lands anywhere, in any climate, in severe weather. Lowest in initial cost and maintenance the Bell helicopter is backed by more than two million hours of flight experience throughout the world.

ONE OF A SERIES — depicting Aerodynamics — "Yesterday, Today & Tomorrow"

"of what use is a newborn babe?". . .

Such was Benjamin Franklin's comment after watching successful experiments with hot-air balloons in 1783. In the same year, M. de Rozier made man's first flight in a Montgolfières before the King's Court at Versailles.

Early ballooning contributed little to the science of aerodynamics, but it did create a tremendous interest in flying. Lacking a suitable power plant, such methods as rowing through the air with silk-covered oars, or hand propelled fans were tried. Because of this lack, ballooning had to depend upon the vagaries of the weather and the skill of the aeronaut.

Today, Bell Aircraft's top engineering teams have long discarded the trial and error methods of early experimenters. Now, the entire flight characteristics of a plane or a guided missile can be determined by banks of simulators

An engineering career at Bell Aircraft is a rich, rewarding experience with one of the world's most advanced aircraft corporations. Creative ability is a vital asset to professional advancement. Bell's long list of projects is always increasing as a result of the constant flow of new ideas and discoveries.

For work on configuration, performance, stability, maneuverability, propulsion pressure distribution, and thermal characteristics, Bell Aircraft has openings for—

ENGINEERS, PHYSICISTS, and MATHEMATICIANS, with backgrounds in:

ONE OF A SERIES — depicting Weapon Systems — Yesterday Today & Tomorrow"

"from rogues to rockets"...

Benjamin Thompson, Count Rumford — 1783-1814 ... rogue extraordinary ... traitor ... turncoat ... yet one of the greatest scientist of his time. Founder of the modern science of ballistics, his theories and work on early artillery were the basis of Napoleon's concept of highly mobile artillery units. But starting in 1806, Congreve's rockets with their greater range and power almost replaced artillery — until it was found that rifling the barrel of the big guns gave the needed distance and accuracy. Gradually the rocket took a back seat as a war weapon until it was revived during World War II

These early weapons contrast against today's intricate weapon systems, as the present products will compare with the even more complex needs of tomorrow. But at Bell Aircraft these complex needs are already well in the planning stage. Highly trained engineering teams are dealing not only with today's problems, but tomorrow's achievements. For the creative engineer seeking top assignments, Bell can offer opportunities leading to a high level of professional achievement — in an engineering department with that young look.

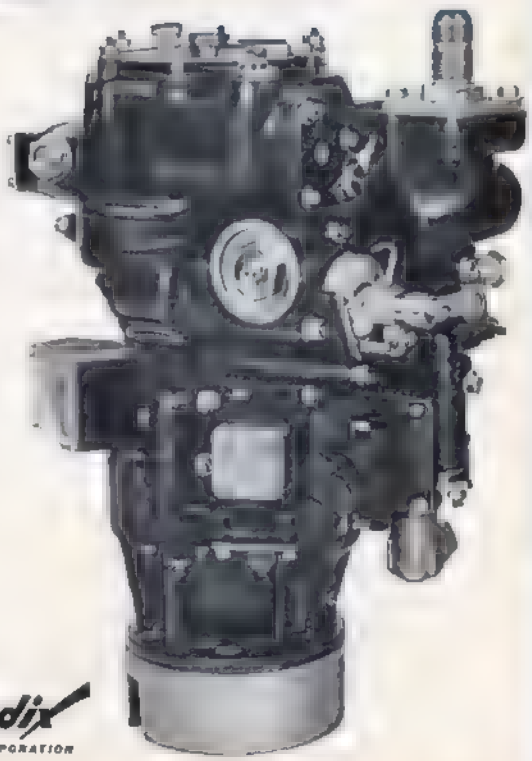
FOR CREATIVE ENGINEERING AND QUALITY MANUFACTURING

BENDIX Products Division has long specialized in FUEL METERING, ENGINE CONTROL SYSTEMS and LANDING GEAR.

SERVING ALMOST ALL American airframe and engine manufacturers, Bendix can bring much of the COMBINED KNOW-HOW OF THE INDUSTRY to the benefit of any one project.

FOR EXAMPLE...

This advanced type fuel metering unit was developed by Bendix to include special features for the 10,000-pound thrust class Pratt & Whitney J-57 turbojet—the engine which puts the power behind the super performance of the F4D Skyray.



As early as 1945, Bendix brought out a jet engine control which automatically metered fuel during engine acceleration and deceleration so as to avoid over-temperature, compressor stall and "flame out". Since then, these features have become a "must" on all jet engine controls, allowing the pilot to slam the throttle wide open without danger of running the engine, or slam it shut without risk of "flame out".

Bendix fuel metering is used today on nearly all American airliners, and on a great majority of military aircraft. This includes injection type carburetors and direct fuel injection, as well as fuel metering and complete engine control systems for jets.

These and other achievements are solid evidence that the aircraft industry can continue, as in the past, to look to Bendix for creative engineering and quality manufacturing.

Pioneer-Central

Oxygen equipment to keep pace with ever higher operational ceilings is essential.

Bendix Oxygen Equipment . . . designed and built by Pioneer-Central . . . continues to be first choice for sound reasons:

First, Bendix has the most practical, most concentrated experience in making oxygen equipment.

Second, Bendix consistently leads in oxygen equipment development and improvement. It introduced the first continuous-flow oxygen system, the first diluter demand system, and the first effective liquid oxygen converter, to name a few.

Third, Bendix has in development today new oxygen equipment to meet the future demands of even higher-performance aircraft.

If you're concerned with selection of oxygen regulators, liquid oxygen converters and complete liquid oxygen systems, talk to PIONEER-CENTRAL DIVISION, BENDIX AVIATION CORPORATION, DAVENPORT, IOWA.

HERE in one of Maine's few primitive deep woods settings is a group of modern, charmingly rustic cabins and lodge, all directly on the shore of Moosehead Lake. The cabins have the most amazingly comfortable casual furnishings. All have a living room, one or more baths and bedrooms and each has its own private dock and float for sunbathing, swimming, or for canoes and boats.

The huge peeled log dining hall makes every meal a relaxed unhurried occasion of complete satisfaction. Two excellent chefs serve up an inspired array of carefully prepared viands embracing the finest food to be had.

Around the conversation-provoking double fireplace in the lodge our select congenial guests gather for relaxation. Here are enjoyed informal parties, shows, games, and movies.

All water sports are available and the large T-dock is the center for swimming parties and sports events. Of course fishing is the main attraction and THE BIRCHES is right in the center of the best fishing grounds on Moosehead. Trout, salmon, and togue are brought in every day throughout the season.

Guides, boats, motors, and cabin cruisers are here for our guests.

Here is that "out of this world" spot you have been seeking . . . yet it is within easy reach by auto, train, or plane. Train or plane to Bangor, bus to Rockwood. By auto follow R 15 from Bangor or R. 150 from Skowhegan to Guilford, then take R. 15 to The Birches.

Big new member of Boeing's jet airliner team

The nation's first jet transport, the Boeing 707 Stratoliner, now has a teammate—the larger, newly announced Boeing Intercontinental.

This team of Boeing airliners will be the first to provide swift, vibration-free travel over the routes for which each was specifically designed: the Stratoliner, over domestic and international routes; the Intercontinental, over longer-range nonstop transocean routes.

The new Intercontinental, largest jet transport offered by any manufacturer, will carry up to 124 passengers in the standard version, 145 in tourist. It will cruise at 575 mph. Its range, with full payload and full fuel reserves, will be more than 4,000 miles, enabling airlines to offer all-season, all weather nonstop transocean service in both directions.

Already three airlines have ordered fleets of Intercontinentals: Pan American World Airways, Air France and Sabena. Stratoliner fleets, with deliveries beginning late in 1958, are going to Pan American, American Airlines, Braniff International Airways, Continental Air Lines and Trans World Airlines. The Boeing Intercontinental will cross from New York to London in 5 hours, 35 minutes; from New York to Brussels or Paris in 6½ hours or less. The 707 prototype has crossed the United States in 3 hours, 58 minutes

Both Boeing Jets will be equipped with two new Boeing developments: a system of sound suppressors to quiet the engines while on the ground and in flight, and jet thrust reversers, which will permit the use of shorter runways than would otherwise be the case.

This great team of high-performance jet transports has behind it the benefits of Boeing's unique experience in building and thoroughly flight-testing a jet transport prototype, and producing more than 1,200 large, multi-jet B-47 and B-52 aircraft.

De-Icers are going on more business trips than ever

FOR FLYING BUSINESSMEN, delay due to icing conditions can mean a meeting missed, a contract lost. They can't afford to be grounded. That's why the wings of most executive planes of twin engine size or larger are equipped with B. F. Goodrich De-Icers. They save time, eliminate delay, get businessmen to important appointments in spite of icing conditions encountered on the way.

B. F. Goodrich De-Icers make ice removal a snap! Small tubes within the De-Icer "boot" inflate and deflate to snap ice off cleanly into the airstream. The cycle operates automatically.

Here's how flight personnel of the Hoover Company feel about De-Icers on their DC-3 (top right photo): "We can always depend on B. F. Goodrich De-Icers. They enable us to plan and complete trips we otherwise wouldn't even schedule."

De Icers for the latest executive aircraft are tailored to exact shape and simply cemented on without stretching or mechanical attachments. Result: smoother fit, easier maintenance, longer life. For time-conscious businessmen, B. F. Goodrich De-Icers are low cost insurance

More and more manufacturers are installing B. F. Goodrich De-Icers as original equipment. Our engineers can help you in the design stage. We've been at it for 26 years. B F. Goodrich Aviation Products, a division of The B. F. Goodrich Company, Akron, Ohio.

THE moment passengers step aboard Braniff's new fleet of Douglas DC-7Cs, they'll be greeted by this pleasant pattern of B. F. Goodrich Avtrim. They'll also find Avtrim in the galley and lounge where Braniff goes all out to give a feeling of luxury.

And this is lasting beauty. Avtrim flight rugs are practically immune to scuffs and scratches, far outwear woven carpeting. Colors go full depth, can't wear off or fade. Resilient backing gives a cushiony step and absorbs vibration.

B. F. Goodrich Avtrim wipes fresh and clean with soap and water. It resists oil, grease, fire and ordinary stains. Your BFG representative will be glad to show you samples in 11 finishes, various colors. B. F. Goodrich Aviation Products, a division of The B.F.Goodrich Company, Akron, Ohio.

Notable Achievements at JPL

SECURE COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS...JPL scientists and engineers have made outstanding contributions to the research and development of communications systems designed to operate in the presence of severe interference.

Protection of a communication system from deterioration by extraneous interference is of paramount importance to the ultimate utility of that system. At the Jet Propulsion Laboratory this pressing practical challenge has been met with concrete achievement in basic and applied communications research, paired with sound development engineering.

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory is an organization devoted to scientific research and development. Its prime objective is obtaining basic information in the various sciences related to missile systems development, including all phases of jet propulsion. The Laboratory maintains as its basic foundation, a major uninterrupted program of fundamental research in most of the physical sciences.

The Laboratory occupies an 80-acre plot in an otherwise residential area in the San Gabriel mountain foothills North of Pasadena. Its staff of approximately 1,250 persons are all employed by the California Institute of Technology, and it conducts its several projects under continuing contracts with the U.S. Government.

In its missile system and jet propulsion undertakings, the Laboratory maintains a broad technical responsibility, from basic research to prototype engineering. By virtue of the Laboratory's broad area of responsibility and the integrated nature of the JPL technical staff an individual scientist or engineer is brought into satisfyingly close contact with the general field to which his technical speciality contributes.

American Plan

To seek the hidden enemy—

Soon, the oceans around Canada will be patrolled by the first aircraft developed specifically for Canadian maritime reconnaissance duties . . . the Canadair-designed CL-28.

Developed from the Bristol Britannia class by Canadair, this is the largest aircraft ever to be manufactured in Canada and we at Canadair regard it as a tribute to our capabilities that the RCAF selected us to do the job.

Size, of course, is not the only factor, for we are equally at home in the design and production of jet fighters, training planes, airliners, guided missiles or even components for other aircraft. What counts most is our outstanding record for cost performance, on-time deliveries and quality of manufacture.

CUMBERLAND COUNTY, Maine's most populous area, is, like York, a scenic wonderland stretching from the mountains to the sea. Along the coast, where most vacationers enter the State, are beaches, stern headlands and cliffs, scores of harbors, islands and inlets, where boating, swimming and deep and shallow water fishing offer residents and vacationers alike an unlimited scope of activities.

Inland the great Sebago Lake-Long Lake chain, with its scores of lesser lakes and ponds and streams covering an area of hundreds of square miles provides a recreational area for many thousands of persons annually.

Pine Point, adjoining the Old Orchard Beach section of York County, continues the beach features of the coast, with famous resort centers such as Prout's Neck, Scarborough Beach, Higgins Beach, and Cape Elizabeth forming the southern side of the great Casco Bay area centering on Maine's largest city, Portland. The Casco Bay area contains hundreds of islands long popular with vacationists. Along its shores, from Cape Cottage and South Portland, the scenic route passes through Falmouth, Cumberland, Yarmouth, Freeport and Brunswick, thence seaward southeast to the northern shores of Casco Bay, to the resort and fishing areas of Harpswell, Great Island, Orr's Island and Bailey Island.

Portland is the metropolis for this coastal area, "the beautiful town that is seated by the sea" of its native Longfellow. On a peninsula less than a mile wide, swept by cool sea breezes, it is a city of modern hotels, banks, department stores, numerous industries, theaters, libraries, churches and museums. Eight golf courses, many tennis courts, bridle paths, fresh and salt water boating and beaches are in the city or nearby.

In the adjoining City of Westbrook are the great paper mills of the S. D. Warren Company, makers of the paper on which this booklet is printed, the Dana Warp Mills of the textile industry, dowel, box and other industries. Westbrook also is a shopping and highway gate to the southern Sebago Lake area and is on Route 25, main artery through Northern York County to Freedom, N. H., and the Ossipee area.

Meeting of the board

This is a briefing for action! The chairman is a squadron leader...he is responsible for today's show. The mission is gunnery. His hands talk in jet-age language as he describes a high altitude target approach.

These are Navy pilots. Young men who love the challenge of high adventure. In minutes, they will be streaking through the sky...putting to work the unmatched flight skill that over $70,000 worth of Air Navy executive training has given them.

Now their executive suite is a shipboard ready room. Tomorrow, it may be the bridge of an atom-powered carrier or the meeting room of a giant corporation. In either case...Air Navy training is making them ready for the job. They have been taught by experts...and they learned their lessons well.

Their ability to think clearly...act quickly, their sureness under the responsibilities of command, their alert concern for safety and other men, their inspiring spirit are all Air Navy qualities that mark them as men of authority...proud men who serve their country on a proud team.

The Air Navy team is the team to make! Can you qualify for it? Can you qualify for over $70,000 worth of Air Navy executive training that will benefit you all through your life? Visit your nearest Naval Air Station for details or send the coupon below today to: NAVCAD, Washington 25, D.C.

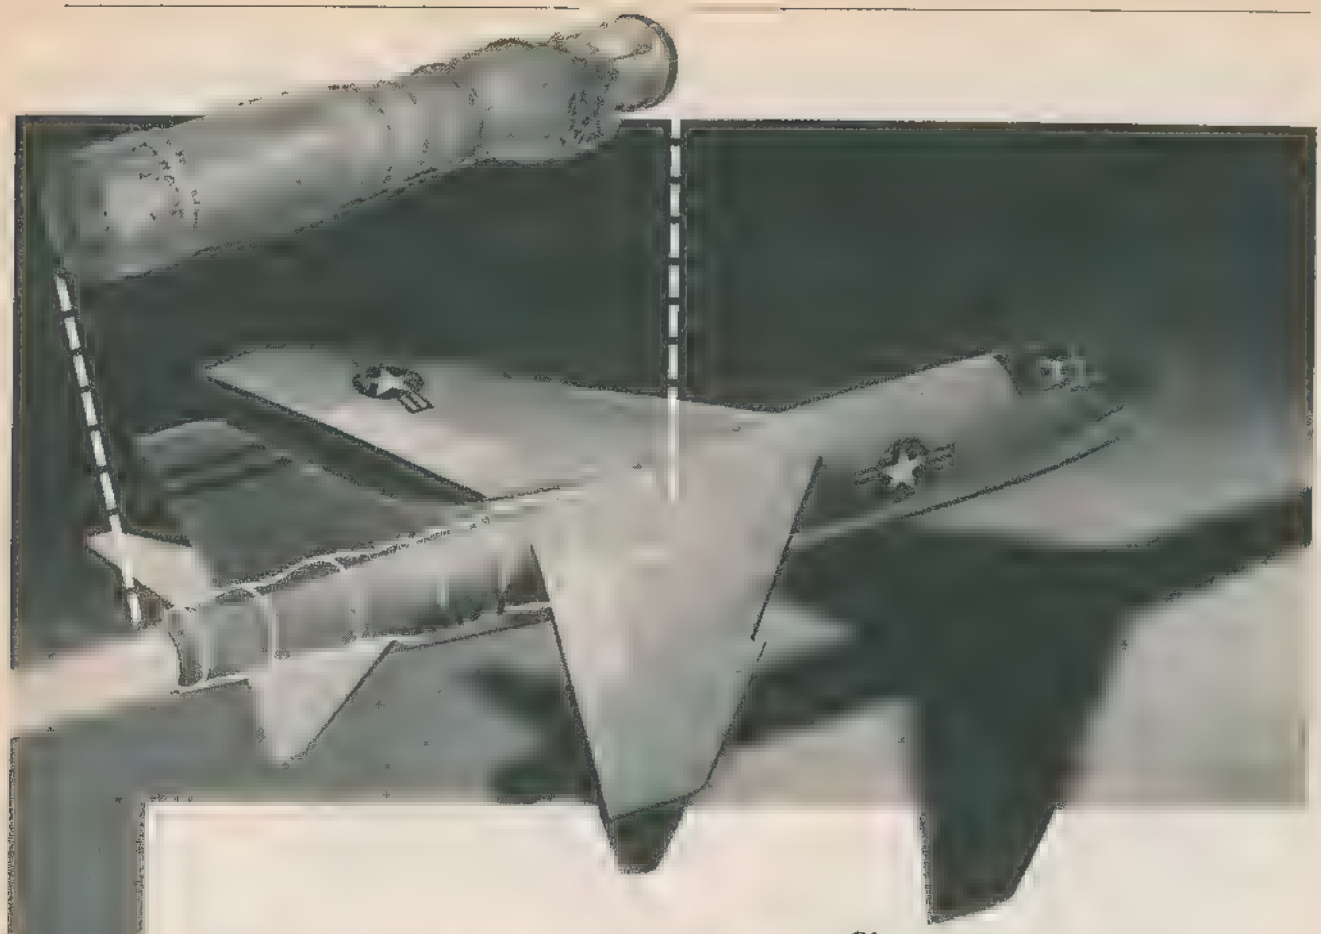
DESIGNER AND BUILDER OF HIGH PERFORMANCE MILITARY AIRCRAFT SINCE 1917



Good Engine Expertly Installed = Superior Performance

In the CRUSADER Chance Vought has installed a production engine in a low-drag airframe so efficiently as to achieve outstanding performance This has been accomplished without creation of operational propulsion system problems often encountered in high-performance jet aircraft. Preservation of basic engine thrust to obtain maximum net propulsive force for the Crusader with a minimum weight installation was accomplished through the following innovations:

- Double Shock Inlet
- Stall Free Engine-Duct Combination
- Controlled Duct Airflow Without the Complication of Variable Inlet Structure
- Negligible Cooling Drag
- Engine Accessories System Optimized
- Elimination of Airborne Engine Starter

The superior performance of the Crusader propulsion system forms a solid base from which more advanced systems are being designed.

If you would like to participate in these future projects and advance both technically and professionally, investigate the opportunities for propulsion engineers at Chance Vought Aircraft.

Engineers with B.S., M S., and Ph.D. degrees will find numerous assignments ranging from theoretical propul sion to propulsion project activities.

Thompson Building Development Center

Cleveland—Thompson Products, Inc., Cleveland, Ohio, is starting construction immediately on a $10 million engineering and development center on a 1,000-acre tract near Roanoke, Va.

Scheduled for completion in 1961, the facility for Thompson's Accessory Division will be used for testing fuel systems and auxiliary power systems for rockets and missiles. This division of the company is now engaged in both development and production.

Financed entirely by Thompson, the center when completed will consist of 14 buildings, including test cell structures, on a hilly terrain which is ideal for individual isolation for various test units.

It will be adequately supplied with water and electric power.

One of the prime considerations in selecting the site was its nearness to a number of technical schools from which Thompson hopes to recruit graduates and obtain part time and consulting services from their teaching staffs.

Initial operation is scheduled to get under way in 1957 with a staff of probably less than 100. The staff will be gradually increased to an estimated 500 when the facility has been completed. The testing to be done at this new center will support the activities of the Accessory Division at the company's Tapco plant in Cleveland.

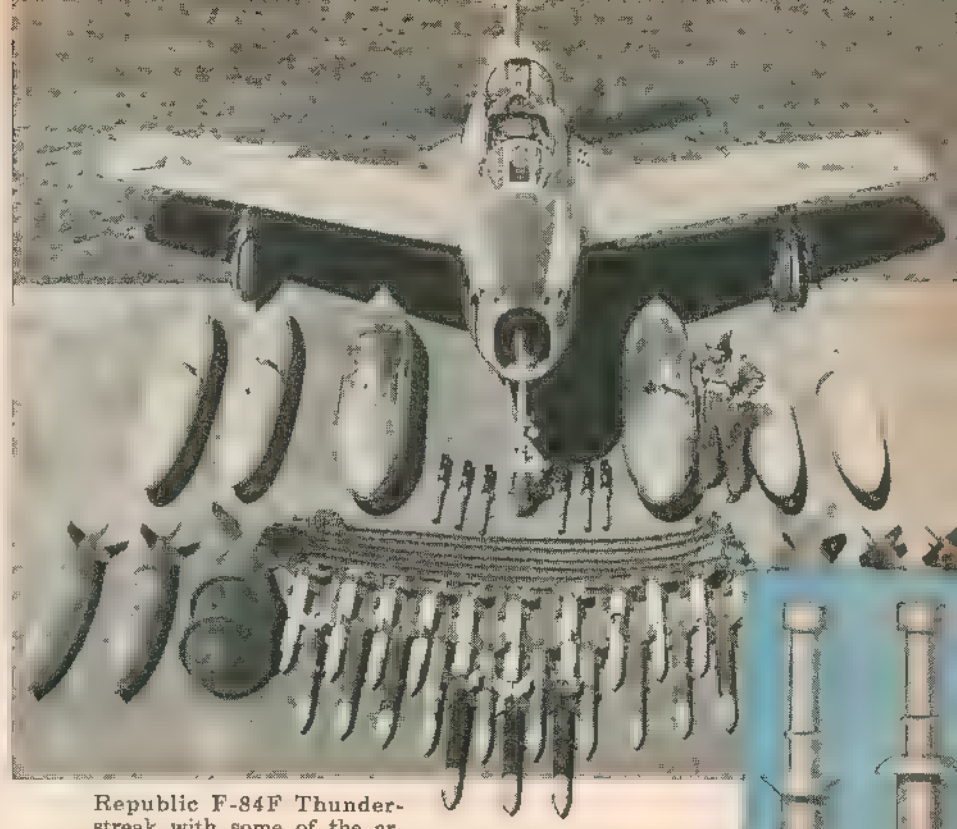
"It will be an independent research and development center where the Accessories Division will carry out programs now in progress and planned in development of systems to be used in the missiles and aircraft of tomorrow," P. T. Angell, Accessories Division manager, said.

New ARDC Unit to Design Flight Control Displays

Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio—A new branch to conduct research development, evaluation and integration of flight control system displays in all USAF aircraft has been established at the Flight Control Laboratory, Wright Air Development Center.

Known as the Design Engineering Branch, the facility will carry out plans for the Control Display Integration Working Group. The group, composed of representatives of several laboratories and other WADC components concerned with aircraft instruments, determines the best presentation of instruments by missions and types of aircraft.

Head of the new Branch is C. J. Snyder. Sections and their chiefs are Display Engineering, Jack Kearns; Systems Integration, Maj. B. S. Emrick; Specifications and Standards, John Hart.



Republic F-84F Thunderstreak, with some of the armament and fuel tanks it carries in addition to the A-bomb.

For Firepower, Speed and Range, It's Republic's Thunderstreak . . .

For Quality Fasteners, It's CHERRY RIVETS

The Thunderstreak's capacity of more than 6,000 pounds of bombs makes it the nation's most powerful fighter-bomber. Holder of the U.S. transcontinental speed record, the F-84F is also capable of global missions by refueling in flight. This technique enabled it to set the world's non-stop jet fighter long distance record of 5,118 miles from England to Texas. The F-84F is also highly effective for interception and escort missions.

The exceptional performance of the Thunderstreak was designed and built into it by men of vision and experience. They employ the best manufacturing equipment and materials such as Cherry rivets, setting guns and accessories used in fastening many components. The use of Cherry rivets in aircraft construction makes possible refinements of design and contributes to modern streamlining—helps achieve maximum flight performance. They also increase production, reduce unit costs.

Cherry rivet production, research and development facilities are located in the Santa Ana plant which is devoted exclusively to production of aircraft material. In this plant all guns, tools and accessories for setting blind rivets are also designed and made.

It's CHERRY RIVETS

The Lockheed WV-2, flying-eye radar plane and the carrier load of fighters it can direct into battle when it electronically spots danger in front of the fleet, is the U. S. Navy's newest sky-and-sea fighting team.

The giant Super Constellation-type airplane with its crew of thirty-one is designed to bolster U. S. defensive power over its vast ocean approaches. It will fly the fringe of fleet units to warn of unidentified air or surface craft and then electronically guide combat planes from carriers or shore bases to investigate. The long-distance Lockheed plane carries America's most powerful search radar to high altitudes to avoid normal limitations from radar's inability to bend over the horizon.

Back of this sky-and-sea teamwork is the similar teamwork of Cherry Rivet research and development men who cooperate with Lockheed engineers to produce the precision fasteners used in the WV-2 and other aircraft. From long association with the aircraft industry, Cherry engineers have developed the widest range of types and sizes of blind rivets available in the industry. They have designed and built special purpose machines and developed techniques that make possible the production of precision rivets and give the Santa Ana plant the largest blind rivet capacity in the world.

The necessary guns, tools and accessories for setting blind rivets are also designed, developed and manufactured entirely in the Cherry Rivet plant at Santa Ana which is devoted exclusively to aircraft production.

With this background of experience, special techniques, modern equipment and tremendous capacity, it is understandable that Cherry rivets are widely used in the aircraft industry to speed production, improve design and reduce unit costs. For technical data on the entire Cherry line of fasteners and tools, write to Townsend Company, Cherry Rivet Division, P.O. Box 2157-N, Santa Ana, California.

Tests Show Comet Fuselage Stronger

How the de Havilland Aircraft Co. convinced Capital Airlines and its financial backers of the soundness of the Comet whose reputation was clouded by two Comet I crashes in 1954 was indicated last week by the company following announcement of the Capital order for 14 Comet IVAs.

Tests in a water pressure tank, and study of wreckage showed that fatigue, beginning at specific weak points at cabin windows, caused explosive decompression of the pressurized cabins of the Comet Is that crashed (AW Oct. 25, 1954; Feb. 7 and 14, 1955).

"Throughout," de Havilland said of the IVA, "the aim has been to employ a new formula of detail design to every component of the airframe to ensure a high resistance to fatigue as well as adequate static strength—a much easier requirement to meet.

"In the fuselage the use of 19 s.w.g.-section skins fulfills the design requirements for the pressure cabin, giving a maximum level of nominal stress of 2?% of the ultimate. In addition, by carefully grading and reinforcing the structure in the vicinity of the windows, doors and other cutouts in the fuselage, the stress level at these positions—which are the normal sources of fatigue—is further reduced to the point where fatigue cracks are unlikely to form during the operational life of the aircraft, and that if they should occur they would propagate so slowly that they would in no sense be dangerous."

Tests results stated by de Havilland:

- Factors over six without cracking have been achieved on fuselage components, and a further factor of six after cracking occurred.
- Water tank tests like those by which the crash mystery was solved, have shown a 29-ft. fuselage section containing all types of cut outs has undergone 85,000 reversals of pressure without a failure.

On the basis of each reversal representing a three hour flight, de Havilland said, this represents, with the scatter factor of six applied, more than 42,000 hours.)

- Fuselage center section to which wing loads are applied, has achieved 30,000 reversals; a nose section with canopy, 100,000 reversals.
- Altitude chamber tests carried out in deference to those who expressed doubt of the validity of water tank tests in assessing fatigue life of pressurized fuselages, have tallied closely with water tank results. Reversals were carried out on box structures containing typical fuselage cutouts.

These typical cutout structures, as de Havilland described a window, are mounted in 18 s.w.g. metal panels pro-

COMPACT CPT LIQUID SPRING

Hardest-working component of the Lockheed F-104 landing gear is its compact liquid spring, engineered and built by Cleveland Pneumatic.

CPT Liquid Springs provide high load absorption within the minimum space available on this razor-wing aircraft. Over 70,000 test cycles proved the reliability of the liquid spring principle.

Whether your aircraft designs permit use of conventional AEROL* shock-absorbing struts or whether razor-thin wings create space problems, CPT will design and build landing gear to handle the job dependably. We've been solving landing-gear problems for over 30 years. Our modern 350,000-square-foot plant is equipped to produce CPT-AEROLS or Liquid Springs to fit your production schedule.

TO THE FINE ENGINEERING MIND SEEKING THE CHALLENGING PROJECTS IN AERODYNAMICS

AERODYNAMIC ENGINEERS AND SCIENTISTS are urgently needed now at Convair in beautiful, sunny San Diego, California. Excellent career opportunities exist for junior and senior engineers for aerodynamics, performance and heat transfer analyses related to advanced projects in the supersonic Mach number range. A balanced background in experimental and theoretical aerodynamics is ideal for these positions. Analytical aerodynamic studies using analogue and digital computers are an integral part of this work. Challenging positions are also available for aerodynamicists experienced in research and development wind tunnel and firing range tests.

CONVAIR offers you an imaginative, explorative, energetic engineering department... truly the "engineer's" engineering department to challenge your mind, your skills, your abilities in solving the complex problems of vital, new, long-range programs. You will find salaries, facilities, engineering policies, educational opportunities and personal advantages excellent.

SMOG-FREE SAN DIEGO, lovely, sunny city on the coast of Southern California, offers you and your family a wonderful, new way of life ... a way of life judged by most as the Nation's finest for climate, natural beauty and easy (indoor-outdoor) living. Housing is plentiful and reasonable

Generous travel allowances to engineers who are accepted. Write at once enclosing full resume to: H. T. BROOKS, ENGINEERING PERSONNEL DEPT. 121

The B-58, America's first supersonic bomber, and the first U. S. aircraft to be built under the new "weapons-system" concept, will soon graduate into the production stage. Even now, many of the engineers and scientists at CONVAIR-FORT WORTH are delving into newer and more challenging projects in connection with the nearly half-a-hundred Air Force contracts now on hand.

If you have a formal education or professional experience in any of the fields needed to explore these new frontiers, you are invited to join this team of outstanding engineers, using the finest and most advanced facilities, to help solve problems which may not become realities for years. From the creative imagination of these men comes the aircraft of tomorrow.

TODAY . . . NOW . . . investigate Convair-Fort Worth. Put your ability to it's best use!

LACROSSE MISSILE SYSTEM

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT BY CORNELL AERONAUTICAL LABORATORY

Cornell-created from the preliminary design stage to the point of final development, the Lacrosse guided missile system has been released by the Army for production at the Glenn L. Martin Co.

Now, the guided missile becomes a field weapon for the close support of infantry operations. With Lacrosse, our front-line soldier will have a deadly surface-to-surface guided missile system, with the mobility of a truck-mounted launcher and accuracy enhanced by its own guidance station. Its price tag to its present stage has been one of the lowest in missile-systems history.

Justly proud of a job well done, C.A.L. now moves on to new aeronautical frontiers—to more research in weapon systems, missile and aircraft design, electronics, gasdynamics, high temperature problems, hypersonics, and other challenging areas of modern flight.

We invite you to investigate the opportunities in research available at C.A.L. for the professional man. Write today—your inquiry will receive prompt and confidential attention actually a stabilizing influence.

To test the theory, WADC built a test model of a nosewheel with an accurately adjustable silicon fluid damper designed by Moreland. With this device it was possible to get quantitative measurements of the degree of stability obtained and the frequencies of oscillations encountered.

Tests made with the model showed that it was possible to get a shimmy with a rigid wheel and no tire. They also proved that Moreland's equation predicted the influence of parameter changes not considered by earlier analyses. The fundamental cause of the more violent forms of instability was found to be located in the supporting structure rather than in the nosegear proper.

Because of the favorable results of the model tests, WADC carried out a field test program using full-scale aircraft. A C-119 cargo plane with its regular landing gear began to shimmy at a taxi speed of 60 knots and the gear eventually buckled. After modifying the structure to meet the requirements of the new formula, the same airplane was taxied over an obstacle at speeds up to 120 knots without shimmying.

Westinghouse to Build F4D Fire-Control Units

Westinghouse Electric's Air Arm Division has received a $22.7 million Navy contract for its new Aero 13 interceptor fire control system for installation in the Douglas F4D. The new system employs a novel cylindrical modular packaging which enables it to fit into the nose of the F4D, yet permits rapid replacement of individual components. Production deliveries are scheduled to begin this spring and continue into 1957.

Waterville, in Northern Kennebec County, is an elm-shaded city of homes, large industries and a modern commercial center. It is a city rich in historic associations dating back to the time when the Indians had a village there and across the river in Winslow. It is also the site of Colby College, established in 1818, which has been relocated on a beautiful 500-acre campus on Mayflower Hill.

Modern hotels, department stores, theaters and other urban facilities make Waterville a convenient shopping place for the traveling public and from it main highways radiate to the surrounding section of the State. Textiles, lumber,

THE LOCKHEED F-104A is described by its maker as the world's fastest combat airplane. Such incredible supersonic speed calls for control systems that must be reliable beyond question, under every conceivable condition.

Rigid specifications for the F-104A's prototype, the XF-104, were entrusted to EEMCO, specialist in the design and manufacture of custom-built motors and actuators. Collaborating with the engineering division of Lockheed, EEMCO designed and developed six actuator systems as vital components of the supersonic XF-104.

EEMCO is now manufacturing actuator systems in quantity for the F-104A. EEMCO-designed motors and actuators are on the majority of the latest type military jet aircraft and missiles now being delivered to, or developed for, the U.S. Air Force. They are also being used in industrial applications where high quality and precise performance are vital.

You can't stump this expert!

This Fairchild C-123 Trouble Shooter engineer, trouble shooter, production expert and top flight maintenance man—watches over the career of every Fairchild airplane assigned to the U. S. Air Force.

His job is to help keep the C-123 flying in top operating condition all the time. He squeezes extra flying hours out of every week. He has to be able to anticipate problems, answer any questions about powerplants, propellers, landing gear, electrical systems and dozens of other C-123 components—and be able to repair or maintain any of them. He's thoroughly experienced in how the plane was built, how it should fly and how to keep it flying. He works hand in hand with Air Force flight engineers, crew chiefs and maintenance men.

He's the Fairchild C-123 maintenance and flight expert . . . his presence at bases all over the world gives the United States Air Force the greatest possible utility from Fairchild built aircraft in squadron service.

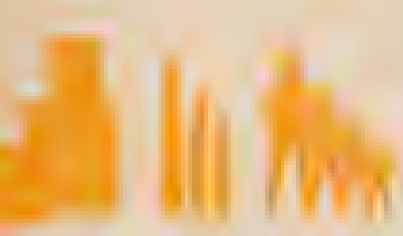
.. WHERE THE FUTURE IS MEASURED IN LIGHT-YEARS!

Cut out for provisions

projectiles or platoons



The size of the load can be large and bulky, the destination just about anywhere, when the versatile Fairchild C-123 takes over in logistic or assault missions.

With muscle enough for 16,000-pound bulk loads, the C-123 airlifts just about any load. And, little more than a pasture is needed for its airfield. 700 feet for landing, and only a little more for takeoff. C-123's bring men and supplies in and out of short, rough, unprepared fields, landing at regular eight second intervals. Proof that any large scale airlift is quicker and surer in the versatile, rugged C-123.

Here is assault and logistics performance that actually improves on military requirements—another good example of the reliability and big job capability that Fairchild builds into its aircraft.

The C-123 can't stop on a dime—but it can land in 700 feet!

Meet the most agile, the most sure-footed transport in the world — the Fairchild C-123. It is capable of air-lifting up to 60 troops, or up to eight tons of bulk combat cargo—and it needs no mile-long concrete runway.

Almost any clearing, almost any field is a potential C-123 airbase; even deeply rutted, ungraded, or sandy grounds are taken in stride by this rugged ship. And sophisticated aerodynamic design makes possible a landing run of only 700 feet—a takeoff run only a little longer.

Performance, ruggedness, payload and versatility . . . these are traditional hallmarks of Fairchild aircraft.

...WHERE THE FUTURE IS MEASURED IN LIGHT-YEARS!

Heralding a golden age in air travel

From coast to coast, from town to town, nothing comes close to the exciting new 280 mph Fairchild F-27. It opens a new era in air transportation.

Air travelers will bridge the miles in air conditioned comfort in the F-27's spacious pressurized cabin. The Rolls-Royce Dart airline proven propjet powerplants are hushed and virtually vibrationless. Passenger visibility is unexcelled.

And the F-27 propjetliner is so flexible in use. Seating up to 40 passengers as a high density transport, it also stars as a practical flying company conference room for executives on the go, or for critical cargo on the move.

The following airlines have ordered Fairchild F-27 propjet transports:

Bonanza Air Lines Frontier Airlines Mackey Airlines
Piedmont Airlines West Coast Airlines

These airlines will be serving 125 cities starting in late 1957 and 1958

The exciting new Fairchild F-27 is tailored to the needs of the airline operator . . . conceived for the comfort of the air traveler. Among its features are: Rolls-Royce Dart propjet engines, 280 mph cruising, 2250 mile range, 40 passengers, lowest operating costs, small field performance and pressurization. One airplane in a class all by itself

The exciting new Fairchild F-27 occupies a special place in the air world of today.

- the only twin propjet airliner in production for local service airlines.
- the world's fastest executive plane—up to 280 mph cruising.
- flies more smoothly, with less noise, and can climb far higher than any twin-engined airplane now in airline service.
- the economical F-27 more than pays its way on short and long hauls . . . up to 2,250 miles.
- has unusually good short field operation and single-engine performance.
- it's the least expensive aircraft in its field at $540,000 —costs far less to buy, to operate, to maintain.*

There are no others in the F-27 class -it's one airplane in a class all by itself.

OPERATIONS ENGINEERS

The Operations Engineering Section of the Projects Administration Department of Fairchild Aircraft Division offers opportunities for graduate engineers capable of conducting aircraft utilization analysis.

These assignments require knowledge of and experience in:

- Airworthiness Requirements
- Performance Analysis
- Power Plant Specifications
- Route and Mission Determination

At the present time, these assignments relate to the Fairchild C-123 cargo transport, the Fairchild Friendship turboprop passenger transport, and the Fairchild M-185 jet utility transport.

The opportunities and salaries associated with the new positions are commensurate with the responsibilities of the work. Employee benefits in the form of group insurance, individual and family coverage for hospitalization, retirement plan, sick leave, etc., are also provided.

STANDARDIZED avionic module, above, proposed by Douglas, makes more efficient use of ram air for cooling nose package.

equivalent of an extra 30 watts of avionic heat.

The result, Carhart says, is that the number of compartment access doors must be held to a minimum, and effective sealing techniques must be used In fact, the sealing techniques must approach those used to seal the cockpit, Carhart says

New A4D Nose Package

Douglas is presently investigating an integrated electronic package for an existing combat aircraft, Carhart reported It is believed to be the A4D. The new "avionic nose" (see sketch, p. 73 will contain the communications, navigation, and indentification equipment previously repackaged by Douglas, (AW Aug. 9, 1954, p. 43) plus "appreciably more equipment in the form of navigation and armament control devices," Carhart said. Individual equipments will be broken down into small modules.

The speed of the aircraft is such that ram air cooling can be used, providing that the avionic equipment is designed in modular form and each module is designed for effective cooling.

This means that there will have to be some standardization of module dimensions, that they will have to incorporate heat transfer passages and that the allowable weight flow of ram cooling air provided to each shall be specified as a function of its wattage dissipation, Carhart says.

As a "first approximation of a possible approach," Carhart revealed the module design shown above. Cooling within the modules would be by convection, and they would be suitably sealed to prevent leakage. Allowable

NORTH AMERICAN FJ-4 ADDS RANGE UNLIMITED WITH FRI PROBE AND DROGUE REFUELING SYSTEM

It's North American fore and aft when the Navy's latest North American FJ-4 fighter takes on fuel in flight from the North American AJ Savage, standard Navy carrier-based tanker.

Thus the North American FJ-4 Fury joins the ranks of first-line Navy fighters, all equipped to extend range or endurance with Flight Refueling, Inc.'s Probe and Drogue aerial refueling system.

The FRI Probe and Drogue system in fleet-wide use, and in aircraft of the USAF Tactical Air Command, is already credited with saving several fuel-short fighters from ditching as well as serving its basic purpose of providing virtually unlimited range for fuel-thirsty jet fighters.

WADC'S WEAPONS GUIDANCE LABORATORY GIVES ACCURACY TO AIR FORCE BOMBS, MISSILES AND AIRCRAFT

The Weapons Guidance Laboratory at the Air Research and Development Command's Wright Air Development Center performs applied research and development of all Air Force weapons guidance equipment.

Included under this broad category are airborne bombing systems and equipment, weapon defense systems, offensive fire control systems, missile guidance equipment, electronic jamming systems, chaff systems, navigation systems, manual navigation aids and special test equipment peculiar to the requirements of the weapons guidance systems or equipment. In addition, all components of the foregoing are the province of this laboratory. The facilities available for these studies include various gun ranges, temperature and altitude chambers and other specialized test and evaluation installations.

Weapons Guidance is one of the laboratories that form the Wright Air Development Center. WADC, in turn, is the largest Center under the Air Research and Development Command. At its location at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, upward of 10,000 military and civilian workers are engaged in research, development and testing of aircraft, guided missiles and all types of associated flight and ground equipment.

"Pan American's communications and navigation equipment has to be dependable on all our planes; but trans-ocean flying makes extra demands on instruments like the ones here.

"Because of our extensive overseas schedules, we attach special value to the reliability of General Electric 5-Star Tubes. Their failure rate is much lower than standard-type tubes; operating life is long; replacements are fewer.

"More and more, schedule maintenance and safety are coming to depend on the performance of electronic tubes in critical flight-instrument sockets. That's why Pan American looks on 5-Star high-reliability tubes as such a good investment."

FIRST OF ITS KIND on any operational aircraft, the G-E servo-temperature indication installation on the R3Y includes eight amplifiers, one for each turbo-jet, eight two-inch master indicators for the flight engineer, and four three-inch dual repeater indicators on the pilot's instrument panel. Systems report turbo-jet temperatures simultaneously to both pilot and flight engineer.

EASY TO READ expanded scale used on G-E temperature indicators lets flight personnel read engine temperatures quickly. This avoids the difficulties encountered in reading two-scale or sub-dial type indicators. G-E dual pointer indicators save valuable space on pilot's instrument panel; give two readings on the same instrument. High accuracy of G-E servo-temperature indication systems helps assure optimum engine performance, lengthens engine life.

AVAILABLE IN MANY OTHER TYPES, General Electric servo-temperature indication systems can provide signals for control initiation proportional to temperature, time over temperature indication, or for dual repeater indicators.

EXPANDED SCALES used with G-E systems allow high-accuracy temperature readings in critical ranges.

G-E repeater indicators are readily adaptable to the requirements of X model aircraft where simultaneous readings on both pilot's panel and photo panel are desired.

components to the point where they may well become the limiting factor to the speed of the vehicle, he said

Temperature is advanced as the most significant environment to affect materials and equipment in a supersonic vehicle

Analysis of the limitations of presently available materials and projected improvements indicates that the equipment designer and manufacturer must, in some cases, discover new materials or develop new techniques for applying known materials, if the operation of supersonic vehicles is not to be compromised.

Electrical Resistivity

Increase in electrical resistivity of metals is one pronounced effect of temperature. Thus at 800F, resistance of copper is 2.8 times that of room temperature resistance, while nickel increases 6.4 times over the same temperature range.

Temperature also will have a significant effect on magnetic properties At 1,000F, saturation flux density of iron cobalt alloy (representative of the new high temperature magnetic materials being developed) has decreased to 17 kilogauss, appreciably lower than room temperature level of about 22 kilogauss.

At 1,000F, silicon steel (used in rotating equipment, transformers) is more severely affected. Orthonol (nickel iron alloy developed for magnetic amplifiers) is completely useless at this temperature, Hart said. While ultimate temperature limit of magnetic materials in general is about 1,000F, special applications may limit their use to a much lower temperature.

In future vehicles, noise levels will be sufficiently high that equipment may be excited directly by impingement of acoustic energy. Estimates are that sound level pressures for vehicles of the future will exceed 174 db.

Noise Effect

Little is known about the effect of noise on equipment, Hart pointed out. In the laboratory, military type vacuum tubes have failed after only a few minutes of exposure to 140 db. A sound level of 150 db. has been known to cause structural failure in existing aircraft

Three design factors of high performance aircraft point to the need for a higher system voltage, Hart said. One of these is the increased electrical load, another is high altitude operation, while the third is increased ambient temperature corresponding to higher speeds. At 750F it will take 2½ times as much copper wire to conduct the same current as required at room temperature. This can mean a substantial weight penalty in a supersonic vehicle. Obvious

Says:

"Eastern's records show ten G-E 5-Star Tubes still operating after 12,000 hours' service!"

"G-E high-reliability tubes, like the one I'm pointing to, have a history of long life with Eastern Air Lines. A number of the 5-Star Tubes we first installed, three years back, are still in operation. Their service exceeds 8,500 hours. Ten tubes have reached 12,000 hours.

"It's obvious this saves us money on tube replacements. But a bigger dollars-and-cents saving comes from the fact we have fewer tie-ups of communications and navigation equipment caused by tube failures. Apart from any flight delays, the total maintenance costs of replacing a burned-out tube average $35.

"General Electric 5-Star Tubes help keep our electronic equipment flying—keep it out of the shop. This, in turn, cuts down the number of flight delays, enabling us to give better service to the public."

GENERAL ELECTRIC JET ENGINES LOG 13,000,000th FLIGHT HOUR

Engine flight record matched by continually improved SFC, higher thrust, smaller frame-size engines—faster jet development

PERFORMANCE DATA OF 21,000 G-E ENGINES now in service, helped foster design concepts of J79. Above, G-E engineers compare J73, right, with advanced experimental engine.

LOW WEIGHT, HIGH THRUST OF NEW J79 helps make Lockheed F-104A, above, world's fastest fighter. J79 delivers more power per pound than any other jet of comparable size.

By last week, General Electric jet engines had logged 4,000,000 hours more flight time than any other U.S. jet engine manufacturer. And every hour since, G-E J47's and J73's, plus the first of the new J79's, have added the equivalent of another year and a half of flying time to the total.

Operating experience pays dividends in jet reliability. Five years ago, the J47's allowable time between overhauls was 150 hours. Today, J47-GE-25's installed in SAC B-47's are allowed 1700 hours, an increase in service life of 1130%. In the same period, the thrust of G-E engines has jumped—50% in the 9000-lb thrust J73, and even more in the new J79—while frame size has actually decreased. SFC has improved at an equally rapid rate.

Flight data helps speed jet progress. This engine flight experience has helped General Electric design engineers trim months from the development cycle of new engines. The J79, for example, was brought from drawing board to test cell an entire year ahead of the timetable formerly thought feasible.

Operational time of G-E jets continues to grow. The 21,000 General Electric engines currently in service provide an ever-increasing base of flight experience that promises still more powerful, more efficient jet engines for the U.S. aviation industry. Jet Age Answer to Auxiliary Power Needs

New G-E Turbostarters give fast starts without ground power assistance

Sixty-pound unit produces more than enough horsepower to bring the engines of a USAF medium bomber to idle speed within 25 seconds—anywhere.

G.E.'s cartridge turbostarter makes the Martin B-57 one of the first USAF jet aircraft in production to be equipped with self-contained starting power. With this lightweight system, the planes can operate from the most advanced bases, even where ground support may not be readily available. At any base, instantaneous group take-offs are now possible without waiting for ground power—allowing the planes to be dispersed for maximum protection against air attack.

Speed and Reliability

According to E. G. Uhl, Martin's Vice President of Engineering, "The Martin Company has used General Electric cartridge starters since they were available. Thousands of starts have been accomplished successfully under all types of environmental conditions. This starter gives our Air Force the most rapid engine start available and frees ground crews from the burden of handling expensive, complex starting equipment."

Application to Any Aircraft

General Electric self-contained starters are designed to meet the needs of tomorrow's jet aircraft starting power, either military or commercial. In addition to the models now available, a 46-lb fuel/air turbostarter that is only 12½ inches long and will produce 10 ft-lb of torque for each pound of weight is in the works. This drive can be easily modified for your specific engine requirements and energy sources.

THE TEAM TO TEAM WITH IN AERONAUTICS

From its welded steel nose to the spar-web construction of its wing roots, the Fairchild C-123 Assault Transport is built to stand the gaff of hauling large numbers of combat troops to rough, postage-stamp size runways.

To give the C-123 the stamina it has, Fairchild had to find ways of slicing away weight penalty. A couple of those structural secrets are embodied in portions of the aircraft delivered by Goodyear Aircraft Corporation.

Take the front entrance door panel, for example. Originally designed to be built of conventional materials, Goodyear Aircraft was later asked to engineer a new door of Bondolite. This construction of honeycombed-metal-core-bonded-to-aluminum not only contributed weight savings, but increased the strength as well.

High atop the tail fin, you find other examples of finesse in structural fabrication by Goodyear Aircraft; a fin cap of void-free laminated plastic and a fin panel of fiber glass. Structural aircraft plastic for electromagnetic transparency without weight penalty is another field in which Goodyear Aircraft has unrivaled experience and facilities.

Moonbeams or a beam to the moon...?

You're a creative engineer. Your success depends upon your imagination—your ideas—and, most important, the transformation of those ideas into realities that pay off.

At Goodyear Aircraft, our success is measured by these realities. Here, ideas are a prime commodity. And our engineers have at their disposal the most modern facilities available, to help transform these ideas into practical realities.

During the past 46 years, in both peace and war, our engineers have turned ideas into realities that today affect nearly every aircraft in our skies. Airships, missiles, electronic guidance equipment, structures, electronic computing equipment—the list is long and broad. And when that trip to the moon is ready to leave, you can be sure we'll be in on that one, too.

Our growth and diversification demand that our staff be expanded. F8U-1 Crusader This speedy U. S. Navy fighter is powered by a J-57 turbo-jet engine with afterburner. The fuel economy of this powerplant gives the Crusader the endurance necessary for carrier operations.

Up from Navy flight-decks... a 1,000-mile-per-hour fighter

Chance Vought's Crusader climbs swiftly to a very high combat ceiling. Once upstairs, the slender fighter arrows through air with flashing speed: she flew faster than 1,000 mph at this year's National Air Show!

The swept-wing Crusader — world's fastest Navy fighter — promises air superiority wherever carrier task forces operate. And Inco Nickel and Inco Nickel Alloys contribute to her remarkable performance.

In the Crusader as in so many of today's fast jets — these sturdy metals are found at critical locations where service conditions are unusually severe. Particularly where special combinations of heat and corrosion resistance, strength, toughness, and ductility are required.

Can one of the Inco Nickel Alloys solve a metal problem for you? It's easy to find out. Just write Inco's Mechanical Engineering Section.

KAMAN

THE KAMAN AIRCRAFT CORP., BLOOMFIELD, CONN.

Kaman's general utility helicopter, the HOK, is now in service with the U.S. Marine Corps carrying cargo and personnel on a variety of missions. Equipped with special flotation gear, the HOK converts to an amphibious jack-of-all trades.

To widen the HOK's working sphere to the fullest, Kaman has developed a new type "bear paw" skid landing gear which allows the helicopter to operate from snow, ice, sand and mud. This means that the benefits of the HOK's high altitude performance can now be realized all over the world, regardless of terrain conditions. This development is one more step in the strides Kaman is taking in the interest of National Defense.

How did CESSNA raise $5,000,000 of New Capital?

THE PROBLEM:

As a result of a dynamic increase in sales from $7,160,000 in 1950 to $50,000,000 in 1955, Cessna Aircraft Company needed additional working capital.

THE SOLUTION:

Kidder, Peabody & Co., acting as Cessna's agent, obtained $5,000,000 on favorable terms by placing privately this amount of promissory notes with a number of institutions. Analyzing the financial needs of large and small corporations and raising capital when necessary is an important part of our business. You are invited to call on us if our services will be of benefit to you.

who'll be next to use PNEUMATICS?

The new Boeing "707" and the new Lockheed "Electra" are both equipped with Kidde compressor-powered pneumatic systems. The reliability of Kidde designed and manufactured equipment, proved by thousands of systems in military aircraft, made Kidde pneumatics a natural choice of these forward looking manufacturers. Who will be next?

Designers and developers of lightweight, dependable pneumatic actuating systems, Kidde's creative engineering staff has refined pneumatics to an amazingly flexible state. Today, there is no job—aloft or on the ground—which pneumatics cannot do as well or better than existing aircraft actuating systems.

In addition to 4cfm and 2cfm compressors which are currently in production, Kidde also has a complete line of allied pneumatic equipment—pressure relief valves, dehydration equipment, lightweight steel or fiberglass high-pressure storage vessels. 6cfm, 8cfm, 12cfm and 25cfm compressors, some developing 5000 psi, are now in various stages nearing production.

At this moment, Kidde can furnish many items of pneumatic equipment on an off-the-shelf basis, and can furnish as well the engineering talent to develop special equipment on request. Consider the use of pneumatics in today's, or tomorrow's, aircraft. Why not discuss your pneumatic problems with Kidde?

the F-104A goes steady with Lear

The faster-than-thought speed of the Lockheed F-104A Starfighter has been made practicable by the automatic flight control system designed and produced by Lear in collaboration with Lockheed engineers. By damping out undesired oscillations in all axes more quickly than they can even register in a pilot's brain, Lear's 3-axis stability augmenter provides an ease of control comparable to a basic jet trainer.

Expansions, Changes In Avionics Industry

Bendix Aviation Corp. has purchased a 40% interest in Computing Devices of Canada Ltd., Ottawa. CDC obtains sales and licensing rights to many Bendix avionics products and will make available its own computer developments to Bendix under the purchase agreement. Bendix already owns 70% interest in Aviation Electric Ltd., Montreal, with which it has similar sales-licensing arrangement on its automatic flight control, aviation instruments and electrical systems.

Other recent changes, expansions and mergers in the industry include:

• General Electric's Defense Electronics Division has merged its former Naval Ordnance and its Special Defense Projects departments into a single new department to be called Missile and Ordnance Systems Dept. George F. Metcalf, former general manager of Special Defense Projects, heads the new department.

• Wheeler Laboratories, Inc., Great Neck, N. Y. has started construction on a second laboratory in Smithtown, N. Y. The new 11,000 sq. ft. Long Island facility will include a 1,000 foot antenna range and will house 25 engineers and supporting personnel.

• Sprague Electric Co., North Adams, Mass., has purchased controlling interest in an Italian capacitor manufacturer named CREAS, located in Milan. New acquisition will enable Sprague to enter European and Near-East markets previously closed by import restrictions and dollar shortages.

• Bendix Radio has opened its new $15 million Advanced Engineering Center in Baltimore, providing 100,000 sq. ft. of air conditioned space for its avionics R & D activities.

• Topp Industries, Inc., Los Angeles, will acquire assets of Heli-Coil Corp., Danbury, Conn., maker of threaded inserts

• International Business Machines Corp. will build a new research center in Yorktown, N. Y., 38 miles north of New York City. New facility will house approximately 1,600 scientists, administrative and supporting personnel.

• Cook Electric Co. will open its new Technological Center this month in Morton Grove, Ill., a suburb of Chicago. Cook Research Laboratories and Inland Testing Laboratories will occupy the 158,000 sq. ft. facility which is expected to be staffed by more than 1,000 people.

BLASTING OFF...TO WHAT CEILING?

The security wraps still enfold the answers to such questions. However, Leland did supply the "answer" to the power problems of the Martin Matador with the SE 24-1, 2250 VA Inverter. This is just one example of the proven design and production capability of Leland's Aircraft Products Division; among the other power products developed and produced are alternators, motors, actuators, AC and DC generators.

Power supplies are our business. Therefore, if you have any new power equipment problems because of higher altitudes, higher speeds, special lubrication, special cooling, or other unusual environmental conditions, forward all details to our Aircraft Products Sales Department. They will completely analyze your specifications and then develop a thorough engineering proposal to meet them. Why not try us, today?

Lockheed breaks ground on new flight test engineering center

● To keep pace with its expanding development and production program, Lockheed has broken ground on a spacious new flight test engineering center at Lockheed Air Terminal in Burbank, California. The 16 acre center will provide engineers with the most modern facilities for test-proving the wide range of aircraft now in development.

It will augment extensive flight test facilities now in operation at Palmdale and Burbank

The expansion program has created a number of new positions on all levels for engineers

To non-aircraft engineers: Aircraft experience is not necessary to join Lockheed. It's your engineering training and experience that count. Lockheed trains you for aircraft engineering – at full pay.

A wide variety of assignments are available in fields of:

Power Plant: engine and after-burner; fuel systems, oil fire extinguishing and air conditioning systems.

Flight Analysis: CAA certification, aerodynamic performance, data processing

Structural Flight Measurement

Instrumentation: systems design, calibration and maintenance.

Weapons: fire control systems, ordnance, rocket sleds

Radio and Radar: communications, search radar, magnetometers ranging and slighting gear.

Dynamics: flutter, sound, vibration, autopilot and approach systems.

Architect's drawing of new engineering flight test and experimental center

Positions are open for:

Aeronautical Engineers • Physicists
Electrical Engineers • Mechanical Engineers
Electronic Engineers • Civil Engineers

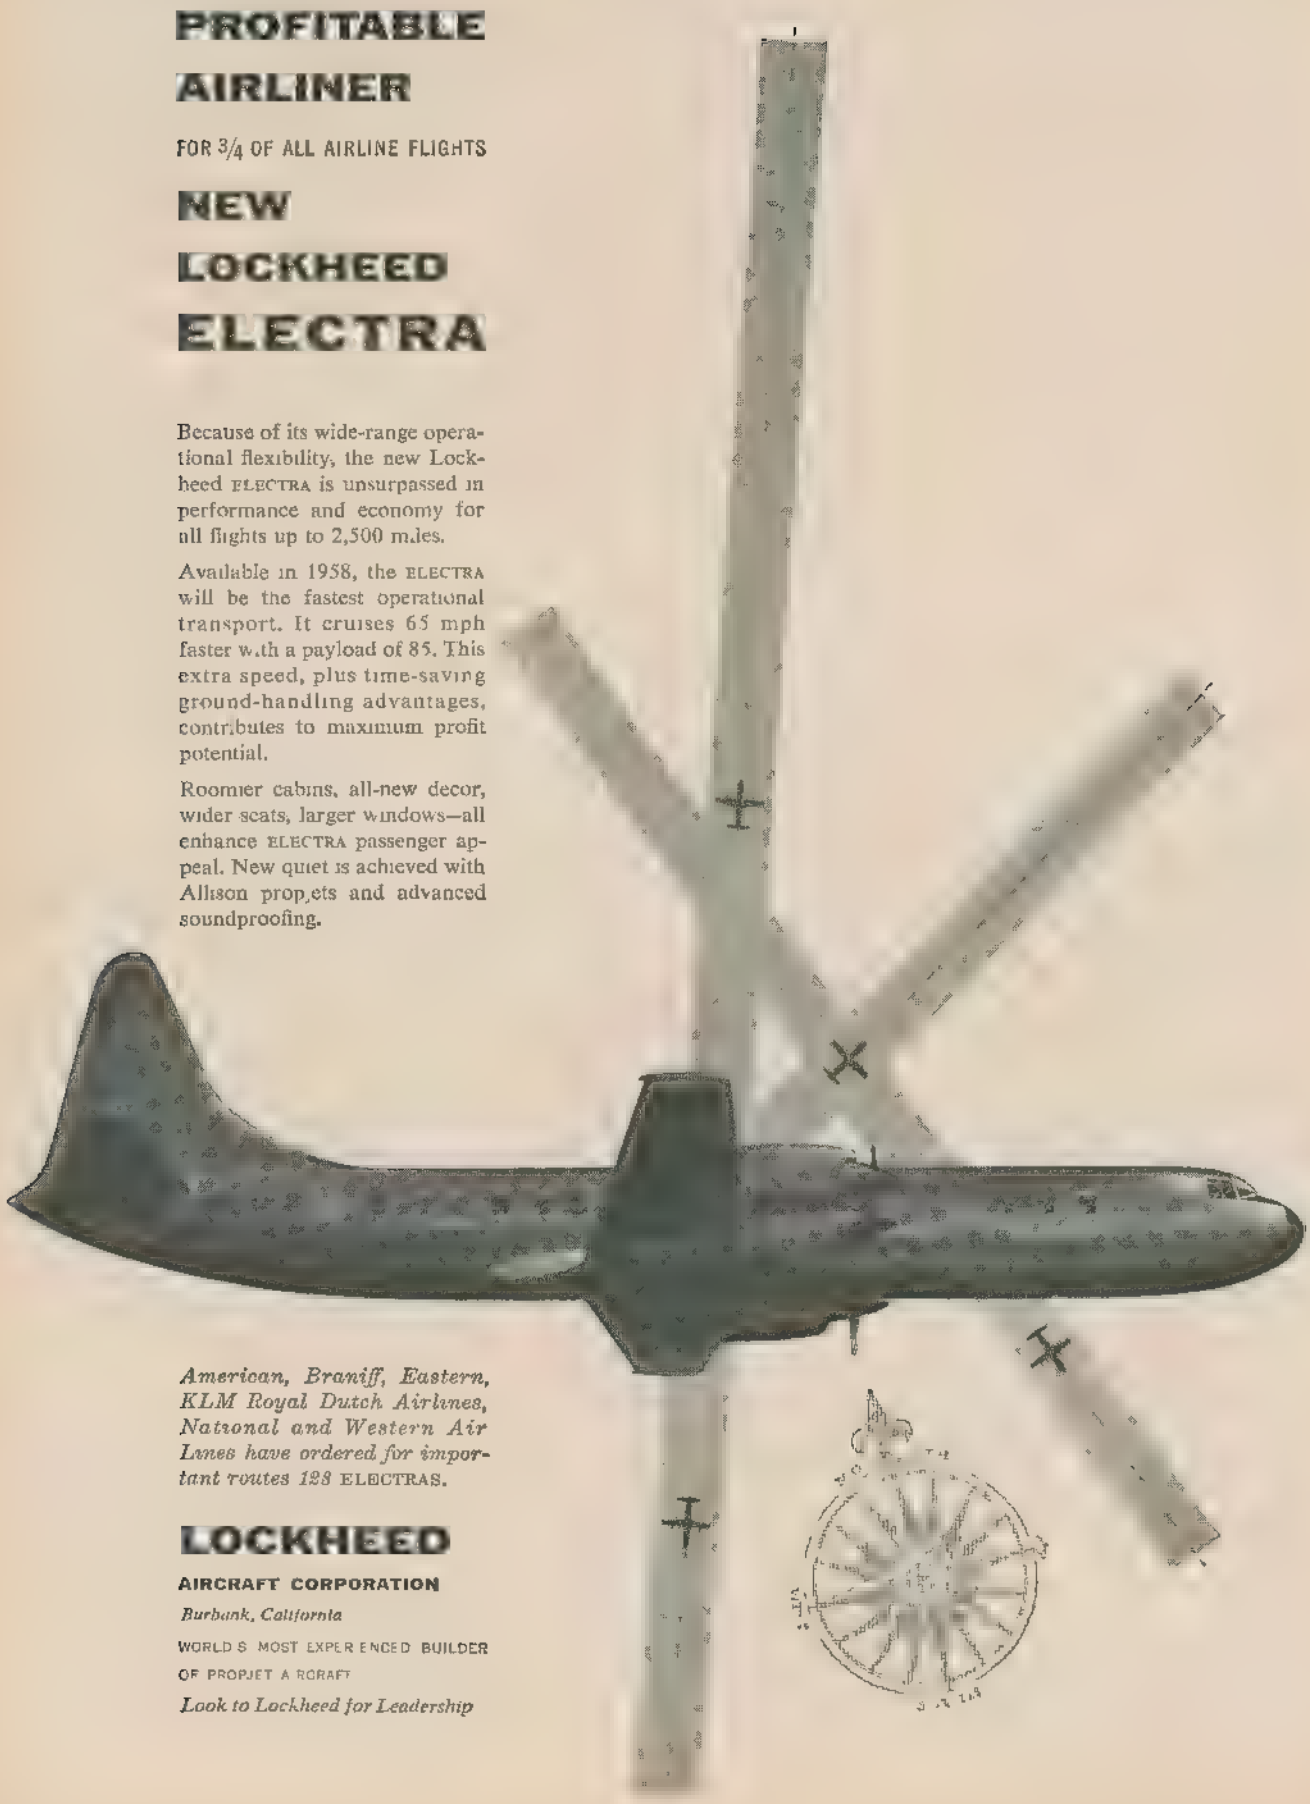
NEW LOCKHEED ELECTRA

Because of its wide-range operational flexibility, the new Lockheed ELECTRA is unsurpassed in performance and economy for all flights up to 2,500 miles.

Available in 1958, the ELECTRA will be the fastest operational transport. It cruises 65 mph faster with a payload of 85. This extra speed, plus time-saving ground-handling advantages, contributes to maximum profit potential.

Roomier cabins, all-new decor, wider seats, larger windows—all enhance ELECTRA passenger appeal. New quiet is achieved with Allison propjets and advanced soundproofing.



American, Braniff, Eastern, KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, National and Western Air Lines have ordered for important routes 123 ELECTRAS.

HERCULEAN TASK:

isolating vibration from 15,000 horses

Engine vibrations on the new Lockheed C-130A Hercules turboprop transport are effectively controlled by a LORD-designed Dynafocal® Engine Suspension. As a result, this multi-purpose Air Force combat plane produces greater comfort, safer operation with less structural wear.

Each of the four Allison T-56 turboprop engines is suspended on a special LORD Dynafocal three-point mounting system. Bonded rubber mountings efficiently isolate vibrations developed by the 3,750 hp powerplants that weigh 2,778 pounds and have a thrust of 8,000 pounds.

Most of our modern aircraft rely on LORD mountings for increased passenger comfort and safety. These mountings are the product of LORD's research and engineering services which are available for the solution of your vibration problem. Call your nearest LORD Field Engineer or write the LORD Manufacturing Co., Erie, Pennsylvania.

HOW LORD ENGINEERS TACKLED THIS PROBLEM

After design of 3-point suspension system, mountings were subjected to destruction tests on this equipment to determine yield and failure points. Rear mounting illustrated.

Vibration tests made in developing this mounting were performed with an actual Lockheed C-130A nacelle structure.

Front mounting installation shows restricted envelope limitations. C-130A develops 15,000 hp, uses 12 Lord mountings to control engine motion under all load conditions.

BOEING

installs "Hi-Fatigue" Cable on three new stratojets!

Macwhyte "Hi-Fatigue" aircraft control cable has earned an outstanding reputation for high-fatigue resistance, and uniformity in handling and service performance. Its wide use by leading aircraft manufacturers like Boeing is proof of its dependability.

Because it is properly PREformed, "Hi-Fatigue" cable lies dead with no tendency to twist or curl. Assemblies can be made to closer tolerances, and there is minimum uniform stretch in any length.

Macwhyte makes a complete line of sizes and types of "Hi-Fatigue" aircraft control cable in Galvanized, Tinned, and Stainless Steel. "Safe-Lock" terminals for swaging may be purchased loose or attached. Macwhyte aircraft products meet the requirements of aircraft manufacturers, air lines, and military specifications.

The DC-8, Douglas jet transport, will offer airline passengers something entirely new in the way of schedules. The aircraft will have a cruising speed of 550 miles per hour and a top speed of 580 miles per hour. Dimensions are span 139 feet 9 inches, length 148 feet 10 inches and height of 42 feet 4 inches. Depending on the individual requirements of operators, passenger capacities will range from 118 seats for first-class operation up to 144 for tourist class.

brings super speeds to civilian flight

The newest Douglas contribution to the jet age, the new DC-8 is destined to make radical changes in intercontinental scheduling of civilian flights. Macwhyte "Hi-Fatigue" control cable is utilized for the control installations in the new DC-8. Indeed, all three Douglas plants in Southern California—Santa Monica, El Segundo, and Long Beach—use Macwhyte cable for installation on planes like those shown on this page.

The F4D is designed to climb quickly to high altitude and destroy enemy aircraft before they can attack a vital target. The delta-wing Navy speedster has a span of 33 feet 6 inches, length of 45 feet 8 inches and a height of 13 feet. It is powered by a Pratt & Whitney J57 engine. It set the world's official air speed record (3 km. course) on October 3, 1953 with a mark of 752.9 mph. Two weeks later it broke the 100 km. closed course record with a speed of 728.11 mph.

The RB-66, reconnaissance version of the B-66 bomber, is an aircraft of the 600-700 mile per hour class. This latest addition to the Air Force tactical reconnaissance capability has a span of 72 feet 6 inches, length of 75 feet 2 inches and a height of 23 feet 7 inches. It is powered by two Allison J71 engines.

Because it is properly PREformed, "Hi-Fatigue" cable lies dead with no tendency to twist or curl. Assemblies can be made to closer tolerances, and there is minimum uniform stretch in any length. THE MAINE TURNPIKE • EXPRESS TOLL HIGHWAY

KITTERY to AUGUSTA - 106 MILES

THE beautiful and scenic Maine Turnpike, joining Kittery, the Gateway to Maine, and Augusta, the State Capital, is a new modern expressway to Vacationland. It has been engineered to provide motorists with the utmost in safety and comfort.

A center strip, 26 ft. wide separates northbound and southbound traffic lanes, and 10 ft. wide safety shoulders extend along both sides of the highway for its entire 106 mile length.

The Turnpike by-passes all congested areas of towns and cities between Kittery and Augusta, permitting a uniform speed of the 60 mile per hour limit without interruption. There are no sharp curves, steep grades, traffic lights, pedestrians, bicycles or advertising signs.

Patrol cars are on constant duty to aid travelers in any emergency. The new Maine Turnpike connects directly with the Maine-New Hampshire Interstate Bridge.

called "Portsmouth" Navy Yard, one comes to the historic and beautiful town of York, with its neat sand beaches, spectacular cliffs and quiet rural hamlets, favorite havens of writers, artists and tourists. York Village, York Harbor and York Beach are all strung out like pearls along a branch of Route 1A. The first chartered city in America, York was a popular summer playground for the Indians before it became a Royal Colony in 1641.

Ogunquit, locale of one of America's great summer theatre activities and a world-famous art colony, is an Indian name meaning "Beautiful Place by the Sea." Its beach, together with the beautiful strip of sand at Wells Beach, annually draws thousands of vacationers and summer colonists, to their spacious, uncrowded sands. Bald Head Cliffs, a geographical wonder, tower over 100 feet at the ocean edge here at Ogunquit.

A few miles further north along the coast is Kennebunk Beach and Kennebunkport, formerly known as Arundel. Here Kenneth Roberts and other famous authors and artists have their summer homes. Both places are on the shore side of the Town of Kennebunk, whose up-to-date business district and charming residential section retain so much Early American atmosphere and tradition. Cape Porpoise, a picturesque fishing village a few miles north of Kennebunkport, was the scene of one of Maine's outstanding Revolutionary War engagements. Goose Rocks Beach is one of the town's popular resort colonies.

Fortune's Rock and Biddeford Pool are on the ocean side of Biddeford, largest city and metropolis of York County, situated at the mouth of the mighty Saco River.

Biddeford is the site of the famous Pepperell Mills and the York Mill of the Bates Manufacturing Company. Saco-Lowell textile machinery made here equips mills throughout the world. A banking, distribution and shopping center, it forms, together with the City of Saco on the northern bank of the river, a locale for many smaller manufacturing and service industries. Both cities have excellent residential and shopping districts and small farm areas in their suburbs Biddeford and Saco also are hubs for highway traffic into the western and northern interiors of York County, with its hills and lakes. Shoreward from U. S. Route One, branch roads lead to Bay View, Camp Ellis, Ocean Park and Old Orchard Beach.

These latter communities, famous for years as summer colony and oceanside resort areas, now are increasing their year-around populations annually.

Old Orchard Beach, focal point of an eight-mile long white sand beach area stretching from the mouth of the Saco River to the Scarborough River at Pine Point, features a five-mile strip of smooth sand from 400 to 700 feet wide, warming the surf considerably on sunny days. With more than 100 hotels, scores of rooming houses and restaurants,

NUCLEAR AIRCRAFT ENGINE TEST

There is something different about new areas of engineering experience in aircraft nuclear propulsion. Old skills must be adapted to the development of new talents.

At General Electric's ANP Department a career opportunity for the application of atomic energy to aircraft now awaits the qualified engineer.

The position now open is one of important assurance, involving responsibility for [illegible] engineering programs in the power and piping reactor areas as well as some design and development work on power plant components. Typical experience in design development test of components or engineering in nuclear equipment required.

Publication of research results in the appropriate classified or open literature is encouraged.

Those were the materials that have proved out one of the big engineering achievements of our time. It concerns a whole new concept of customer service developed to provide optimum efficiency in the delivery and performance of weapon systems.

The TM-61 Martin Matador shown here at an overseas Air Force base arrived there in six packing cases, and was stockpiled in a storage depot.

When the test-drill whistle blew, a team of Air Force technicians assembled and checked out the missile, complete with mobile guidance system, and ready for firing, in less than six hours.

Martin engineering service today covers every aspect of the customer's requirements for effective operation and maintenance of the product. This includes packaging, delivery, customer training, field service and contractor maintenance.

its flint have been found as far west as the Mississippi. A few miles southeast of Greenville, on Little Wilson Stream, a fifty-seven foot falls in a sheer slate canyon makes one of the most impressive cascades in the State. Big Squaw Mountain, near Greenville Junction, is easily climbed and affords a magnificent view of the entire area. East and West Outlet, Rockwood and Seboomook, all on the western shore of the lake, are renowned vacation and resort centers.

Lily Bay is almost a lake in itself and is separated from the main lake by Sugar Island. It is a fishing center of high repute and many record salmon and trout are taken each year. Spencer Narrows farther up the east shore from Lily Bay are at the entrance to Spencer Bay, at the head of which is Spencer Mountain and nearby Spencer Pond, always favorite fishing waters and an area full of game. Kokadjo, on beautiful Kokadjo Lake is the center of a fly-fishing area embracing 23 ponds and numerous streams. Further on is Ripogenus Dam, 92 feet high at the head of West Branch Gorge. At the foot of Chesuncook Lake, it is a jumping off place for the vast northern area of Piscataquis County, with its trackless forests and lakes such as Chamberlain, Sourdnahunk, Telos, Webster, Umbazookskus, Allagash, Churchill, Chemquasabamticook, and hundreds of others, both large and small.

Mount Katahdin, in Baxter State Park, is the northern terminus of the Appalachian Trail, which cuts across the northern sections of Piscataquis, Somerset, Franklin and Oxford Counties. It is one of the three highest peaks east of the Rockies and dominates a vast expanse of territory whose lakes and streams are famous among fishermen and whose forest depths outside the park area are among the best hunting grounds in the State. While there are several entrances to this region from the south and east through Millinocket in adjoining Penobscot County, one of the most popular is by the auto road from Ripogenus Dam to Sourdnahunk Stream via Frost Pond and Harrington Lake, thence by trail to Kidney Pond or Daicey and thence by the Hunt Trail to Mount Katahdin.

Over the Appalachian Trail the hiker may visit some of the most beautiful spots in Piscataquis County, the well-marked route being so laid out that nightfall of each day finds the hiker at a camp where he can find good food and a comfortable bed.

South of Greenville is Shirley Mills, a lumbering and farming village and further on is Monson, a village perched the GAZELLE 1,260-2,000 s.h.p. Gas Turbine Engine

This rugged new free-turbine engine of notable performance for gas turbine-powered helicopters will power the twin rotor Bristol 192, adopted by the Royal Air Force and the Westland S.58 "Wessex" helicopter, adopted by the Royal Navy.

The engine embodies the safe, simple Napier automatic control system.

For ease of installation it can be mounted in any position between the vertical and horizontal.

Helicopters demand tough, reliable engines—the GAZELLE is designed for strenuous duty, long life between overhauls, while its outstanding simplicity means easy maintenance and economical operation.

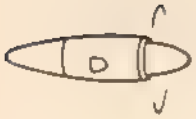
THE ERA OF THE ELAND

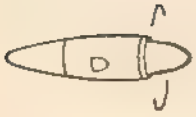
How many development hours is 'know-how' worth?



Why is the Eland ahead of its time? The answer lies years back—in the steady accumulation of engineering skill and experience that forms the 'Napier tradition'. This 'know-how' made us decide on the single-spool as opposed to the twin-spool—and at the same time showed us the way to find the compressor we needed.

In 1947 it was clear to us that only by basic research on stage matching could we find that compressor—one which would make possible a single-spool turbo-prop with the simplicity, the economy, the power and flexibility of the Eland.

So we built at Liverpool the best-equipped gas-turbine research station in Europe. The original work we have carried out in that station has given us a knowledge of compressor problems—and their solutions—equalled by few other aircraft engine firms.



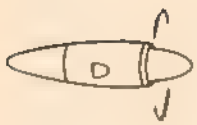
After thousands of hours of cascade work we determined by 1952 the right type of blade to use, its general aerofoil characteristics and the basic geometry of the compressor itself. Even at this stage, a very large number of possible compressors could have been built.

We now had to make a vital decision. Which prototypes—out of this very large possible number—should we build? Theory wasn't much help here.

IS BEGINNING ...

Three examples of successful Napier Eland conversions: the Convair, the Elizabethan, the Varsity.

We had to depend on 'know-how' and the engineering sixth sense it gives. The right answer could save us thousands of hours of work—the wrong answer could put us back years.



It was decided that we should start by building four compressors. When we had built the third we knew we had what we wanted! By now we have been able to put in three years steady development work on the same blade/compressor combination.

With a type test at 3,060 e.h.p. successfully completed we can say now that the Eland's design is basically sound, basically right, and will not have to be fundamentally altered in the years ahead. Of how many turbo-props can that be said? The Era of the Eland is beginning with an engine of proved safety and flexibility.

HOW ARE YOU GOING TO USE THE ELAND TO YOUR ADVANTAGE?

OKLAHOMA CITY
SEPT. 1-2-3

America's Major Aviation Show for All of the Armed Services

In keeping with its plan of rotation, the U. S. Department of Defense has designated Oklahoma City the site of this year's aviation classic—the National Aircraft Show.

Here, for the first time in the southwest, the aviation industry in cooperation with the Armed Services will dramatically report to the nation the progress of our air power.

It is the only major show for 1956 approved by the U. S Department of Defense and sanctioned by the National Aeronautic Association. It will carry full participation by all branches of the Armed Services, both in flying demonstrations and static exhibits of aircraft and equipment.

Spacious hangars for indoor displays and vast outdoor exhibit areas offer airframe, engine and component parts manufacturers a singular opportunity to effectively present their latest developments to all the Services, the industry and public . . . for this is aviation's traditional annual rendezvous. It merits your serious consideration and active participation.

in your weapon systems with

GROUND SUPPORT EQUIPMENT, TRAINING AIDS, and TECHNICAL MANUALS

Northrop Aircraft and its subsidiary, Radioplane Company, have a backlog of many years experience in guided missile and jet aircraft development. Major engineering and production activities have included such projects as the Snark SM-62 intercontinental missile and the Scorpion F-89 all-weather interceptor.

For these projects, Northrop has designed, developed and produced ground handling equipment; electrical and electronic test equipment and related special tools; mobile training units; and simulators for many major weapon systems. Supporting facilities in these latter fields include systems engineering, reliability analysis, design, prototype development, production, field service, and preparation of technical manuals.

Now, through the Northrop Anaheim Division, the company's capabilities in these supporting activities are available to you to "close the loop" in your weapon systems program. Your inquiry is invited.

For immediate consultation on your problems, contact Mr. Thomas H. Quayle, Division Manager, Northrop Anaheim, 500 East Orangethorpe Ave., Anaheim, Calif.

TRAIL BLAZING—Many frontiers of science have been charted by Northrop Aircraft engineers and scientists in seventeen years of research and development of manned and pilotless aircraft. Northrop Snark SM-62s, first intercontinental guided missiles to be disclosed by the U. S. Air Force, are now flying from the Florida coast over the USAF missile test range. Northrop's newest trail blazer is a supersonic trainer designed to help pilots master the complexities of tomorrow's combat aircraft. Other Northrop trail blazers include Scorpion F-89 interceptors; pilotless target aircraft and missiles from Northrop's subsidiary, Radioplane Company; ground support and armament equipment from the Anaheim Division, and entirely new concepts of integrated weapon systems which are constantly being developed to improve our national defense.

BALANCE—Foremost of Northrop achievements is an efficient organization well balanced between the poles of advanced research and economical production. Northrop scientists in physics, astronomy, metallurgy, electronics, aerodynamics, optics and many other fields are doing their work years in advance of the need. From such long-range thinking and planning within the Northrop complex have come the Radioplanes, first and foremost pilotless drones and missiles; Scorpion F 89 interceptors, present defenders of our heartland approaches; and Snark SM-62s, deadly intercontinental A-bomb carriers. As streamlined as its products, the well balanced Northrop organization is at work on even greater weapons to strengthen this nation's defense . . . and is more ready than ever to develop and produce them efficiently and on schedule.

does not believe, however, that this is any reason for airlines to hold off buying the latter, since they will have more than paid for themselves by the time they are replaced

He backs up his statement by citing American figures that the original Reservisor not only has paid for itself in five years but now nets the carrier about [illegible]% of its original investment annually

As the airlines expand their individual electronic inventory systems and then interconnect them, there will be minor compatibility problems, particularly if the systems are purchased from different manufacturers. However, Abbott does not believe this is sufficient reason to force airline industry standardization on machine design. Because inventory/availability machines work in relatively simple codes, it is comparatively easy to design an "electronic interpreter" that will enable one airline's computer to "converse" with another airline's machine

Compatibility, however, will be a more pressing problem in the ultimate system because it deals with much more complex information than mere inventory. For this reason it will be desirable to standardize on the characteristics of the basic equipment, on "machine language" and its logical alignment.

For instance, a particular code letter, like "B" might mean "book passage for . . ." to the computer when the "B" is the first character in the message, but the same letter might represent the initial of the passenger's surname in the body of the message.

Agonizing Reappraisal

Preparation for the day of fully automatic data processing will require "a thorough review of the principles and practices which underlie airline message construction and could imply that rather sophisticated changes must be made to the standard rules which govern," Abbott told the ATA Reservations Committee. "These seemingly painful re-explorations of basic principles are typical (of what is required to prepare) . . . for electronic data processing," Abbott added.

In preparation for its experiment at Buffalo, American has undertaken an extensive evaluation of its reservations procedures and message coding. Interestingly, American found there is a striking similarity between good manual procedures and those which can be readily followed by electronic data processing machines, AA's W. G. Cumber told the ATA meeting.

American selected Buffalo—which boards around 1,000 passengers a day, many of them for connecting flights out of New York—as a proving ground be-

NORTH AMERICAN'S Columbus Division

Offers A New Challenge To EXPERIENCED ENGINEERS

You can share in a new kind of career challenge . . . if you have experience and vision. Here's the story briefly:

North American's Columbus Division has prime responsibility for the design, development and production of North American's Naval airplanes. The Division is young, with the highly successful FJ-4, a "concept-to-flight" Columbus Division product, as evidence that its engineering team is "going places."

Young organization . . . greater Individual Opportunity for you.

You are sure of . . . Stability . . . North American Aviation is the company that has built more airplanes than any other company in the world . . . Promise . . . the availability of positions for experienced engineers comes only from success.

A SELECT FEW POSITIONS ARE OPEN IN EACH OF THESE FIELDS:

Aerodynamicists, Thermodynamicists, Dynamicists, Stress Engineers, Structural Test Engineers, Flight Test Engineers, Mechanical and Structural Designers, Electrical and Electronic Engineers, Wind Tunnel Model Designers and Builders, Power Plant Engineers, Research and Development Engineers, Weights Engineers.

it is a world famous amusement and convention center. More Canadians visit this area of Maine each Summer than any other resort section, even in their own Country.

If the visitor enters York County from Dover or Somersworth, N. H., he comes into the State through the Berwicks which include Berwick, South Berwick and North Berwick. These are on the western side of the county, comprising a rich farming area and famous in New England history and tradition. The first sawmill in New England was located in this area. Maine sent more men from this section to the Revolutionary War than any other area, and one family here provided Governors for both New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

Near South Berwick is the home of Gladys Hasty Carroll, contemporary novelist, who uses Maine and New England as the locale of many of her stories and writings. The Sarah Orne Jewett House, open to the public, contains some of the most beautiful features of any house in New England.

and so has considerable experience in the toy business. Raymond, who was formerly a commercial photographer, has had no previous toy experience but, as he expresses it, "is learning how fast!"

In making his "rounds" as a representative, Paul Johnson, who is a native of Arkansas, fell in love with San Antonio, if not at first sight, at least shortly afterwards, and determined that, when the time came for him to open his own store—a dream held by many a toy representative, it would seem- he would open it in the Alamo City

The time came last June, when Paul discovered that the Dibbles could be persuaded to sell out

He promptly contacted his cousin, Raymond, in Illinois, and the two of them combined financial forces—and other abilities—to acquire the Dibble store

Known as "the toy store with 5,000 items," the place is rapidly becoming a store with 10,000 items. The famous "train window" was left intact, as was the big stock of Lionel and other model trains at the rear of the store.

Pegboard was the answer

But pegboard did something the Dibbles had never been able to accomplish in their 30x200-foot store. It permitted the set-up of as many as 20 complete trains against the wall, where they could be seen from all parts of the store, and could be taken down for closer examination. The trick is to "peg in" the track, and rest the trains upon a section of track.

"It's easier to show and sell model trains from a pegboard," says Raymond Johnson, "than by any other method

"The display can be spotted by a model train enthusiast as soon as he comes into the store He can make a comparison of practically all of the models we have in stock. He can examine them at leisure—all we ask is that he put the train back on its track

"The price of each is plainly marked.

"In fact, with this system, one can almost establish self-service in selling trains, and it certainly saves a lot of time for the salesman."

The old store also featured bicycles of all sorts, so the Johnsons have kept this stock, and added to it another section devoted to velocipedes and other wheel goods for younger children. The two sections take up a lot of the store's limited floor space but, according to the Johnsons, are worth it, considering the size of the unit sale.

Beneath the wall-board sections . items must be pegged in at about 30 in. from the floor to be seen across the store—the Johnsons have set low tables filled with toys of every description. And in the center of the store, other fixtures, with an occasional cross aisle, hold most of the items the store has put in stock

TRAFFIC-WAY for customers is found in fairly wide aisles down each side of the store, inviting a look at toy displays at the back of the store, where pegboard is again used to good advantage.

A wide aisle back of the front window display, two fairly wide aisles down each side of the store, and space at the back for a service counter (behind which are model train items), provide "traffic-way" for customers.

The new Dibble's is almost a 100 per cent serve-yourself store.

The only items kept out of reach of small customers are dolls—which become soiled if too often handled—and model train items, which must remain in order if the salesman is to locate what a customer wants when he wants it.

Practically everything else can be taken off the wall or from a display table for more careful examination.

Dibble's doesn't specialise in low-end toys.

"Competition between toy stores is keen enough," comments Mr. Johnson. "We have no intention of going into competition with the dime stores, drug stores and grocery stores, too.

"But we will have something for everyone—from a 25-cent metal airplane to a $125 Lionel train with complete accessories."

While Christmas is, of course, the "big season" for Dibble's, as for every toy store, it has a steady year-around business, stimulated by consistent advertising.

New items are constantly coming in, as Paul Johnson, who is buyer for the firm, finds them.

These are advertised once a week, alternating in the San Antonio Express and San Antonio Light, to reach all classes of readers in the city. And in this way Dibble's and the toys it carries are kept continually in the public mind

An interesting feature of Dibble s is that it is on a business street that is definitely staging a come-back.

When the store was established, half a century ago, it was one of the city's best business streets. Then it began to get run-down, as downtown neighborhoods sometimes do. But Dibble brothers chose to remain, and refused to move to a "better location."

Then La Villita, San Antonio's original village, was restored, with one end of it almost next door on South Alamo street. Siegel's, a specialty shop further up the street, constructed a new store. Joske's, famous San Antonio department store, doubled the space in its already-big building

Neighborhood rejuvenates

And South Alamo, which had sunk to the level of cheap bars and flyspeck restaurants, began to pull itself up by its own boot-straps.

Today some of the highest rental store property in the city is on Alamo street.

And the new Dibble's finds itself in a location that is just as good as it was when the store was first established—perhaps even better

The important thing is that Dibble's, through creating and maintaining a reputation for fine toys, made a steady profit for half a century, regardless of what happened to the neighborhood in which it was located.

Now, under its new management, that reputation is being continued with an even larger and finer stock of merchandise, modern display methods, and consistent advertising that is designed to attract customers and sell toys year in and year out

"Pegging up" means show and sell

STRATEGIC use of pegboard partitions is enabling Dibble's, well-known San Antonio toy store at 313 S. Alamo st., to show many more items and, at the same time, have space enough for aisle and table displays of toys not so well adapted to "pegging up."

The pegboard is set up along each side of the store 6 ft. away from the outside walls, and is securely braced so that it appears to be actually against the wall. This leaves shelf storage space—always at a premium in a toy store—behind the displays for stocking the items pegged on the board.

One wall section is pegged to a whole railroad yard full of model trains.

Dibble's, which is by far the oldest toy store in San Antonio, with a business record extending back more than 50 years, always has specialized in model trains.

Long ago it became a headquarters in the city for Lionel trains—and these will continue to be a big feature with the firm. Indeed, the Dibble window with its permanent "train and track" set-up, is considered by some to be one of the sights of San Antonio—along with the Alamo, a little further down the street. It is no secret that youngsters visiting the city are sometimes a lot more interested in this than in the spot on which the Texas heroes died.

Another pegboard section is devoted to metal automobiles, trucks and similar toys. Dibble's this year is specializing in metal rather than in plastic toys.

A third section—this time a glass-front case backed with pegboard—is devoted to dolls of all types.

The rear is devoted to model train stocks.

These items, it was explained, must be stored within easy reach for model train enthusiasts, and must be kept up-to-date if the reputation of the store as model train headquarters is to be maintained.

MINIATURE "railroad yard" at Dibble's shows as many as 20 complete trains, which may be taken down from pegboard wall for closer examination. Pcboard, which is like an inner wall, leaves shelf storage space behind the displays.

Dibble's, which changed hands last June, was operated for many years by Jack and Kim Dibble. The store, established by their father, was taken over by them at his death and operated along the lines that he had established with success.

This year, however, it was sold by the Dibble brothers to Paul and Raymond Johnson, who are cousins. Paul previously had been southern sales representative for the Belknap Co..

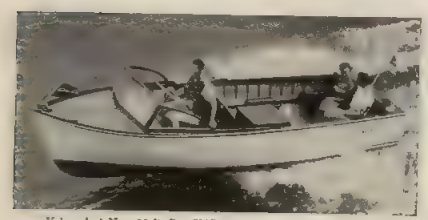
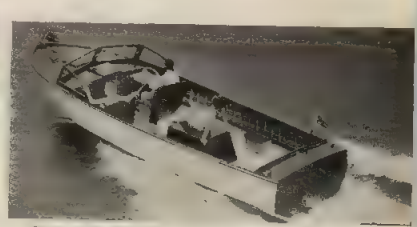
And a large selection of optional accessories – such as ventilating or nonventilating windshield, folding canvas or permanent top, icebox or fish box, toilet, cushions, as well as a choice of attractive hull colors – let you tailor your Sea Skiff to your individual boating needs!

Visit your Chris-Craft Sea Skiff dealer for prices and model information, or write us direct. But act now while low winter prices are in effect – you save 5%!

All prices quoted are low winter prices f.o.b. factory, and subject to change without notice.

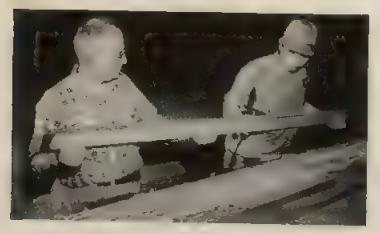


Value-plus! New 18-ft. Sea Skiff with 60 h.p. engine, speeds to 25 m.p.h. A practical boat, practically priced from $2449. Sea Skiff strakes are 5-ply marine-grade fir plywood for maximum strength. Optional extras include: toilet below forward seat, fish box in stern, folding khaki top with protecting side curtains.



New 26-ft. Sea Skiff with engine options to 130 h.p., speeds to 29 m.p.h. Frames of Philippine Mahogany and ribs of steam-bent White Oak. This beautiful performer has a roomy forward storage area which can be converted into a cabin by adding Vee berths, toilet, and hatch. From $3010.

CHRIS-CRAFT SEA SKIFFS ARE FAR STRONGER, FAR MORE WATERTIGHT!



Seams and joints of all Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs are reinforced with Chris-Craft's synthetic-rubber-based Sea Skiff Sealer. It is both a tenacious adhesive and a watertight sealer. It makes Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs far stronger than ordinary lapstrake boats, provides them with a new kind of long-lasting watertightness.

Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer adds strength. Tests showed that a pull of 32 lbs. per sq. in. separated the seams in ordinary lapstrake hull construction – clout nails with putty or compound filler. A pull of 190 to 350 lbs. per sq. in. (more than four times more force) was required to tear apart Chris-Craft strakes fastened with copper clout nails and Sea Skiff Sealer. Even then, the seams held but the wood around the seams shredded!

Sea Skiff Sealer is elastic. A block of wood, bonded to another block with 1/16-in thickness of Sea Skiff Sealer, can, with considerable force, be moved transversely about ¼ in. across the bonded surface of the second block without losing adhesion. When pressure is released the two blocks return to their original relative position. Applied to Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs, this sealer allows the strakes to "work" without affecting the bonding seal.

Sea Skiff Sealer provides a watertight bond. A Sea Skiff using Sea Skiff Sealer without copper-clout-nail fastenings was subjected to severe rough-water tests at high speeds. After months of testing, the hull remained completely intact and watertight.

Also Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer is highly resistant to the effects of water, weathering, fuel and oil. A test patch, exposed to sun and weather continuously for over eight years, showed no tendency toward brittleness or cracking.

New Chris-Craft round-bilge, lapstrake Sea Skiffs – with Sea Skiff Sealer – are far more durable, far more watertight than other boats of this type. And you can get Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer only on a new Chris-Craft Sea Skiff. Can you afford to buy any other make of lapstrake boat?

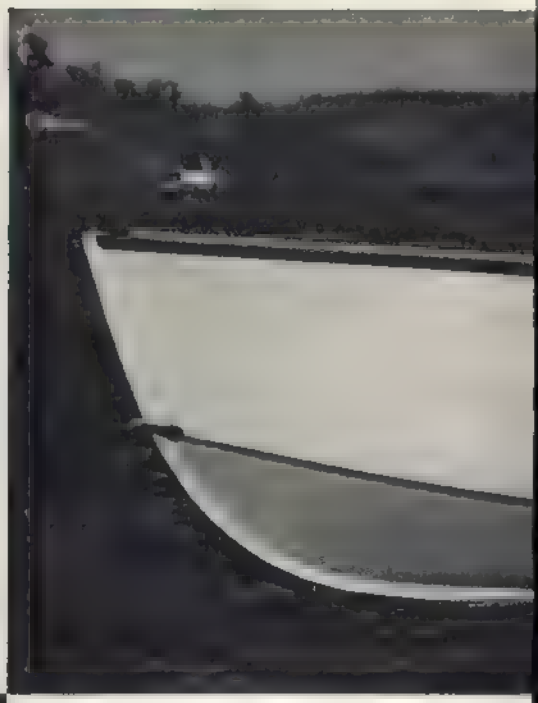
whether you build or buy it...specify..

In every marine application... Harborite out-performs them all!

Boats built with Harborite actually live longer... perform better due to Harborite's greater strength and light weight. Harborite is 100% waterproof... will not swell or shrink... eliminates all warpage, buckling, splitting, grain-raising and checking. Superior to even the finest marine plywoods, Harborite is a super-resistant overlaid panel that defies the extremes of tropical heat, arctic cold... proved in thousands of work, pleasure and Navy fighting craft.

Almost all Harborite for marine use has gone exclusively to the United States Navy for production of PT and other light fighting boats. Now, Harborite is available in unlimited quantities to all boat builders... amateur and professional!

Now!... whether you build your own boat... or buy one that's ready built... specify rugged, dependable Harborite, the King of marine plywoods.



The U. S. Government specifies Harborite for the construction of PT boats and other small fighting craft!

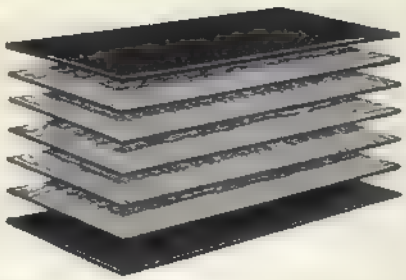
HARBORITE®

The miracle overlaid fir plywood... super-resistant to wear, weather, and water!

Harborite is used exclusively by Burchcraft, leading Pacific Coast pleasure craft builder.



Here are the component parts of a Harborite panel

1. Only select Douglas Fir veneers are used in Harborite.
2. Core veneer strips are machine-edged and butted tight.
3. All knots and flaws are replaced with solid wood plugs.
4. Harbor-developed waterproof glue makes a permanent weld.
5. Core panels are rehumidified to minimize warping and grain-raise.
6. Harborite's resin-impregnated overlay makes a perfect paint holding surface.

AMERICA'S MOST AMAZING DOLLS

(A) MERRILY, THE WALK-A BYE DOLL AND CARRIAGE. Merrily walks by the carriage while the carriage is being pushed. A shaft attachment on the buggy fits into the doll and is concealed by her dress. Just snap it on, snap it off. A secret her little mother can keep to baffle friends. Bright as a button, the doll can also stroll hand in hand. Merrily is 20" tall and will sit or sleep in her carriage while she rides. Soft and cuddly, she cries Mama and is made of unbreakable plastic with hair that can be washed, combed and set. Sleeping eyes and she wears a cute outfit of beret, two-piece suit, panties, socks and shoes. Thayer carriage is gaily colored leatherette with an all steel frame, rubber tires. Buggy may be used without the doll and is easy and simple to store.
21-7179-1377 (Each) 20" tall. Wt. 9 lbs.
21-7179-1250 (3 or more) Retail 19.95

(B) WALKING DOLL WITH WARDROBE. The perfectly behaved little guest with so many invitations to come and visit . . and her trunk is always packed with all-occasion changes of clothing. She'll walk when led, move her head, and is just the right size so that clothing easily slips on and off her smooth plastic body. Her lock-stitched hair can be washed, combed and curled. Her traveling outfit is dotted taffeta with nylon tulle overskirt, shoes, socks, and panties. There is an impressive list of things to take with in the trunk: a coat with striped reveres and cuffs, straw hat, casual dress with contrasting trim, printed satin pajamas, bright printed bathing suit, extra plastic shoes and socks. 16" trunk has a handle and lock. Wt. 4 lbs.

"LOOK FOR THE BULL'S EYE"

Marlin 22's with MICRO-GROOVE RIFLING

Sixteen Shallow grooves, as compared to regular rifling with Six Deep grooves, assures faster, more even dissipation of heat through the barrel. Gas leakage, which is a major cause of bullet "flipping" at the mouth of the barrel, is practically eliminated. There is less barrel erosion, too. Micro-Groove also avoids deep scoring of the bullet, thus lessening wobble and air resistance, which cause inaccuracy.

VARNEY

PRESENTS GM'S NEW AEROTRAIN IN MINIATURE

(HO Scale)

The breath-taking train of tomorrow is here today!

IT'S THE DARLING of the nation's press! "We salute General Motors" . . . "a clean break with the past" . . . "a new era in railroading" . . . they say. Newspapers are printing thousands of pictures and stories about the GM Aerotrain

"BREATH-TAKING MODELS"

The hobby-trade press is equally excited about Varney's HO Aerotrain.

"These breath-taking models fascinate all who see them . . . even mantelpiece collectors will have them . . . it's the newest and most exciting thing on rails" says one editor.

"SLEEK, STREAMLINED, SUPER-DETAILED"

Varney's HO Aerotrain was designed with the close cooperation of the builders—Electro-Motive Corp. Div., General Motors. It's authentic in every detail . . with 4-wheel trucks, a 6-wheel locomotive, a 4-wheel power truck . . . faithful to GM styling.

EVERYBODY WANTS ONE!

Young and old and in-between . . . the boys who want a train for a toy, the hobbyists, the gift-buyers . . . all want the Varney Aerotrain. We're operating our factory around the clock to keep up with the demand! And it's priced just right to give you VOLUME SALES!

EVERY VARNEY TRAIN SET INCLUDES THE VARNEY POWER-PAK TRANSFORMER

READY TO RUN AEROTRAIN SET . . . $29.95

[7] WHEN "BABEE" CRIES, TEARS RUN DOWN HER CHEEKS. She drinks, wets, then little "mommy" has to care for her! Almost as cuddly as a real baby, she's completely made of soft, skin-like vinyl plastic; "mommy" will love to bathe her. Rooted hair, arms and legs are jointed, and it's so much fun to put her in little baby poses. When you hug her . . . she coos; lay her down, her big lashed eyes close for her nap. Looks so lovable and sweet in her outfit. "Matching" Pink and White cotton knit cap, sweater, pants, and booties; diaper. Also comes with diaper bag, extra diaper, soap, nursing bottle with nipple, pacifier, cleansing tissue and bib.

[8] BUTCH IS A SCRAPPY ATHLETIC LOOKING LITTLE SHAVER who will pose like a real baby because his arms and legs are jointed. Feed him from his own bottle when he gets hungry, he wets his diaper, then "mommy" can change it. If he gets tired, just lay him down . . . he'll close his eyes and go right to sleep. When he awakes from his nap his little "mother" will love to bathe him . . . his body is lifelike vinyl plastic, so soft and cuddly! Vinyl plastic head feels just like real baby skin has molded hair. "Butch" will arrive dressed in a diaper, and you can bet a husky youngster like him has his own nursing bottle and nipple along!

Bowman "Orleans" Utility Boat

1956 MODEL 7114. For fun on the water, here's your best buy in a low-priced utility boat. It's the sharp-looking, leak-free "Orleans" by Bowman. And a mighty trim craft it is, too! Features the famous Bowman non-tip design that keeps you whizzing along on even keel in choppy water, no matter how tight you turn or how heavy the load you carry. Construction is sensational fiberglas and solid core resin bonded 5-ply ⅜" bottom and ¼" sides. Heavy duty 9-ply 1⅝" transom is supported by oversize quarter and transom knees—trouble-free performance with largest motors. Brass fastened for salt water boating. In addition, the spruce new "Orleans" is engineered to provide natural flotation for maximum safety and styled to perform admirably with a wide range of motors—the smallest to the largest, giving you a soft, spray-free ride every time. Deep enough to accommodate seats that do not cramp legs. Matched 29" dark Red mahogany deck with handy built-in dry storage space beneath. Attractive Cream colored vinyl coaming. Length: 14 ft. Measures 66" across the beam. Transom width is 62¼". Depth amidship: 21". Bow depth: 26". OBC Rated HP is 25 MPH. The Bowman "Orleans" has three roomy seats. An ideal craft for the amateur trying out his "sea legs", the veteran boating enthusiast, and the fisherman and duck hunter, and at this low price, it's the perfect choice for use on weekends at the lake, vacations, and for pleasure at sea. Freight prepaid from Denver or east of Denver.* Wt. 230 lbs.

Bowman "Geneva" Runabout

1956 MODEL 7214E. Enjoy carefree cruising! Fast . . leak-free . . lightweight for easy maneuvering, but ruggedly built to last for years. Ideal for fishing and cruising or duck hunting, here's a lot of quality-built boat for a little money. Bowman's bottom design gives you the smoothest, spray-free ride ever . . full "V" shape eliminates skipping, skidding, hopping, tripping and porpoising. Safer to ride, because it's practically tip-proof, even on rough water. Deck is beautiful matched dark Red mahogany trimmed and protected by durable vinyl plastic coaming in rich Cream color. Brilliant White topside, Green bottom, and Red splash rails. Bow lift handle and bow winch ring are highly polished. Inside is coated with new super-tough plastic finish for enduring beauty. Latest fold-down seats fitted with handy swim suit and towel rack. Brass fastened for salt water. Full equipment includes factory-installed custom-fitted seat cushions; chrome-trimmed wrap around windshield; complete steering assembly; hardware—bow light and pennant with flag pole, stern light with flag pole combination and ensign flag, set of bow chocks and deck cleats and a pair of stern lift handles. The natty "Geneva" runabout has 3 seats. Overall length is 14 ft. The width across the beam is 58", and the transom width is 52¼". Depth amidship: 22". Depth at the bow, 26". Deck length is 66". OBC Rated HP is 30 MPH. Freight prepaid from Denver and east of Denver.*

Cook IN THESE LOVELY SERVING DISHES

royal DRU iron

HAND DECORATED PORCELAINIZED CAST IRON

OVEN-TO-TABLEWARE

in Delft Blue or Key Largo Green

Distinctive sauce pans, casseroles, frying pans and baking dishes — all made of porcelainized cast-iron. Designed to be taken directly to the table from the stove top or oven — you cook and serve in the same lovely dish. Royal DRU-iron's permanent, beautifully hand-decorated surface gives it the lifetime beauty of fine china. Made in Ulft, Holland, by skilled old-world craftsmen, each piece is hand-decorated with traditional Dutch motifs of tulips, windmills, and fleur-de-lis. Burnproof, stainproof, easy to wash—Royal DRU-iron is a lifetime of beauty.

Imported by Evans International

This genuine American-made china is manufactured from the finest clays by experienced dinnerware craftsmen. It is fired at the highest possible heat to provide a finely-textured, mirror-smooth finish. It is beautifully translucent and has the luxurious sheen only fine china can possess. The patterns were chosen to please every taste, modern or traditional. Fine coin gold or platinum is generously used to accent and add grace to the patterns.

New Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs for 1956

Fast! Dry! Seaworthy!

New Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs for 1956 are at your dealer's now . . . open models, flying-bridge cruisers, semi-enclosed cruisers — 18 ft. through 40 ft. . . . with traditional round-bilge, lapstrake design, traditional seaworthiness . . . and boasting new advances in construction, equipment, performance!

Here are practical, beamy, all-purpose boats . . . boats you can use for almost anything, from exciting water sports to heavy-duty utility work. And they are ruggedly built, thrilling to own. A delight to handle, for Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs give you a dry, soft-cushioned ride, even in rough water; their unusual maneuverability and handling ease provide positive control at all speeds!

What's more, new Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs are exceptionally watertight — with exclusive Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer in all seams and joints, from keel to seat risers in 18-ft., 22-ft., and 26-ft. models; from keel to sheer in 30-ft., 35-ft., and 40-ft. models. As for power plants, there's a wide choice of engines which produce power to spare to carry big loads at high speeds!

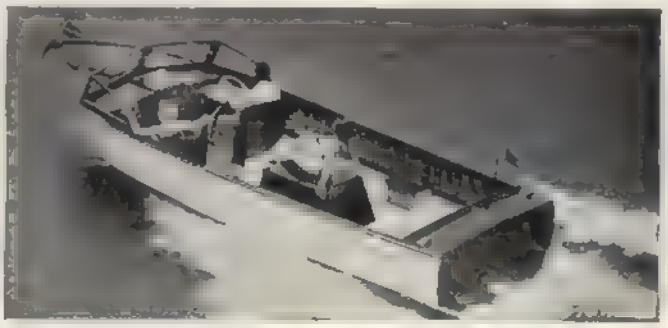
Standard equipment includes a sturdy skeg to protect the bottom, bronze shoe to protect the propeller on 18-ft., 22-ft., 26-ft. models; dependable worm-and-pinion, rod-to-rudder steering; ventilated bilge; fuel tank vented overboard; water-cooled copper exhaust pipe — to name just a few.

And a large selection of optional accessories — such as ventilating or non-ventilating windshield, folding canvas or permanent top, icebox or fish box, toilet, cushions as well as a choice of attractive hull colors — let you tailor your Sea Skiff to your individual boating needs!

Visit your Chris-Craft Sea Skiff dealer for prices and model information, or write us direct. But act now while low winter prices are in effect — you save 5%!

All prices quoted are low winter prices f.o.b. factory, and subject to change without notice.

Value-plus! New 18-ft. Sea Skiff with 60 h.p. engine, speeds to 25 m.p.h. A practical boat, practically priced from $2440. Sea Skiff strakes are 5-ply marine-grade fir plywood for maximum strength. Optional extras include: toilet below forward seat, fish box in stern, folding khaki top with protecting side curtains.



New 26-ft. Sea Skiff with engine options to 130 h.p., speeds to 29 m.p.h. Frames of Philippine Mahogany and ribs of steam-bent White Oak. This beautiful performer has a roomy forward storage area which can be converted into a cabin by adding Vee berths, toilet, and hatch. From $3010.

CHRIS-CRAFT SEA SKIFFS ARE FAR STRONGER, FAR MORE WATERTIGHT!

Seams and joints of all Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs are reinforced with Chris-Craft's synthetic-rubber-based Sea Skiff Sealer. It is both a tenacious adhesive and a watertight sealer. It makes Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs far stronger than ordinary lapstrake boats, provides them with a new kind of long-lasting watertightness.

Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer adds strength. Tests showed that a pull of 82 lbs. per sq. in. separated the seams in ordinary lapstrake hull construction — clout nails with putty or compound filler. A pull of 130 to 150 lbs. per sq. in. (more than four times more force) was required to tear apart Chris-Craft strakes fastened with copper clout nails and Sea Skiff Sealer. Even then, the seams held but the wood around the seams shredded!

Sea Skiff Sealer is elastic. A block of wood, bonded to another block with 1/16-in. thickness of Sea Skiff Sealer, can, with considerable force, be moved transversely about ¼ in. across the bonded surface of the second block without losing adhesion. When pressure is released, the two blocks return to their original relative position. Applied to Chris-Craft Sea Skiffs, this sealer allows the strakes to "work" without affecting the bonding seal.

Sea Skiff Sealer provides a watertight bond. A Sea Skiff using Sea Skiff Sealer without copper-clout-nail fastenings was subjected to severe rough-water tests at high speeds. After months of testing, the hull remained completely intact and watertight.

Also, Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer is highly resistant to the effects of water, weathering, fuel and oil. A test patch, exposed to sun and weather continuously for over eight years, showed no tendency toward brittleness or cracking.

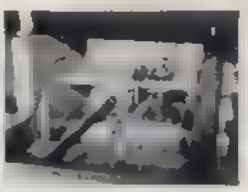
New Chris-Craft round-bilge, lapstrake Sea Skiffs — with Sea Skiff Sealer — are far more durable, far more watertight than other boats of this type. And you can get Chris-Craft Sea Skiff Sealer only on a new Chris-Craft Sea Skiff. Can you afford to buy any other make of lapstrake boat?

Runaway 22-ft. Chris-Craft Sea Skiff. Options of 80- or 95-h.p. engines, speeds to 28 m.p.h., space or toilet beneath forward deck. From $2080.

Four-Sleeper 30-ft. Sea Skiff Semi-Enclosed Cruiser with dinette, galley, toilet compartment. Single or twin engines to 190 h.p., speeds to 25 m.p.h. From $8850. Also available: 30-ft. Open Sea Skiff Two-Sleeper Fly Bridge and Semi-Enclosed Cruisers, and Four-Sleeper Fly Bridge Cruiser. Optional extras available.

35-ft. Four-Sleeper Semi-Enclosed Cruiser with dinette, galley, toilet compartment, power options to 260 h.p., speeds to 27 m.p.h. Priced from $12,840. Also: Four-Sleeper Fly-Bridge Cruiser. Sea Sleeper Semi-Enclosed and Fly-Bridge Cruisers are available in 35-ft. and 40-ft. models. Choice of factory-installed accessories.

THESE QUALITY FEATURES ARE STANDARD ON CHRIS-CRAFT SEA SKIFFS!



Steering is worm-and-pinion (left), rod-to-rudder (right) —assures instant response and easy maneuverability.

Bronze shoe protects propeller, on 18-, 22-, and 26-ft. models. Rudder is bronze.

Sturdy skeg provides underwater protection. Bottom paint is anti-fouling.

AMERICAN FLYER Scale Model Trains

2-rail "T" formed flat top track, like real RR track

Air Chime whistle blows short toots or long blasts

All aboard on the American Flyers for 1956! Here's a world of realism in miniature . . . the thrilling speed, authentic action, color and sound of real-life railroading . . . to gladden the heart of every model railroader . . . to make a young boy's eyes shine with joy. All true to scale models . . . and not just precision-made but durably made . . . dependable for years and years of railroading fun. The big and beautiful locomotives have all the rugged weight and belt of a real loco scaled down to size . . . have built-in Pull-Mor, giving them amazing pulling power for long hauls, climbing power, speed.

Real smoke with firebox glow . . clean, harmless

"Choo-choo" sound timed to action of driving wheels

"THE MOUNTAINEER" . . . 4 Car Freight Train. Make that boy thrill to his fingertips with this wonderfully authentic, colorful freight train! Powered by the massive 4-8-2 "Pacific" type steam locomotive, it hauls heavy freight over rugged terrain, up steep grades or across open flatlands at super speed. Puffs real red glowing smoke, has built in choo-choo sound. Powerful worm drive motor. All pieces perfect scale models . . . realistically reproduced down to the finest detail. Equipped with real RR knuckle couplers. Cars uncouple by remote control. Set includes: locomotive and tender, tank car, coal car, gondola, caboose; 3-pc. smoke set, 12 sections curved track, electric car uncoupler, track terminal, 50-watt transformer and train book.

88-3009 B2000 Train. 3-ft., 11¾" long..... $29.95

"SILVER FLASH" . . . 5 Car Diesel Freight with Horn. Rugged rail giant with amazing Pull-Mor power pulls its cargo at thrilling speed . . . along the straightaway, 'round hairpin curves. New billboard horn blows diesel blasts by remote control. All scale models . . . built to pin-point accuracy; equipped with real RR knuckle couplers. Includes: Diesel "A" unit locomotive, coal, refrigerator, tank cars, gondola, caboose; remote control uncoupler, 12 curved tracks, 4 straight tracks, 16 track locks, track terminal, 50w transformer, booklet.

88-3017 B2867 Diesel Train. 4-ft., 4¼" long.....$42.95

New! "B" Unit with DIESEL "ROAR" . . . the last word in Diesel realism!

Now, for the first time in model railroading history, the full-throated ROAR of the mighty Diesel captured in amazingly realistic sound effects. Developed exclusively for the famous American Flyer trains . . . the authentic scale models that LOOK real and now SOUND real!

Four different diesel sounds are synchronized to train action . . . the steady pulsating motor-idle sound increases in pitch and intensity building up to a throbbing roar.

Choice of "Silver Rocket" or "Silver Flash" markings. Coupled between the power-driven lead and trailer ends of your twin-diesel, the "B" unit produces an exceptionally long-looking power plant. (Can be used with any American Flyer Diesel set.)

HIGH SPEED ANSCOCHROME COLOR FILM. Anscochrome sets new standards in speed and high-fidelity color photography. It is the only high-speed transparency color film available for box cameras using 120 and 620 roll film. Index of 32 means photographers can now stop speed action in color, and can use openings of f/11 and smaller instead of 5.3 as before, for consistently sharp color transparencies. Works equally well in box or 35 mm. cameras, producing true color in dim light, indoors or out, with strobe or flash lamps.

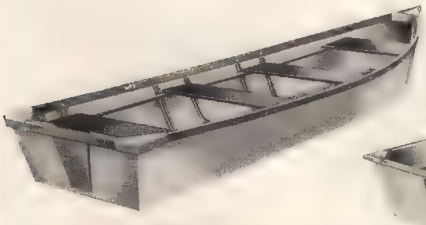
ALUMINUM BOATS — Flat Bottom

The V flat bottom is very popular due to its stability. New features: a deep wide center keel and 2 bilge keels give a good bite on the water and swinging at anchor is minimized



14' Flat Bottom Boat

2276AF14700—Here's a 14 footer for fishermen, cottage owners and others who desire an economical 14 ft. aluminum boat having contrasting wood trim. Good depth and ample flare to sides result in a dry running boat. 4 wood seats of finest redwood. Heavy duty gunwales and seat rails are first grade red oak. 5 years use by fish camps and boat liveries prove this boat has what it takes at the lowest possible cost. Motors to 7½ H.P. are recommended. Weight approx. 140 lbs. Maintenance—hull none, wood trim—one pot of paint once a year. Maximum width 51", stern width 43", stern depth 16", bow depth 16". Supplied with anchor pulley and carlocks. F.O.B. Indiana Factory. Sugg. Retail $183.75

12' Flat Bottom Boat

2277AF12600—A low cost 12 foot boat for general use in smaller lakes and streams. Weight is 85 lbs. 3 seats arranged for maximum leg room. Full length aluminum rub rails. 10 heavy ribs—wide seats. All seams inert arc welded, proven construction—guaranteed against failure. Thousands in use since 1947. No maintenance. You can carry it on your car to your favorite fishing spot. For motors up to 6 H.P. Maximum width 48", stern width 44", stern depth 12⅞", bow depth 16". Supplied with bow lift handle and carlocks. F.O.B. Indiana Factory. Sugg. Retail $157.50

ALUMINUM BOATS — ROUND BOTTOM

Due to its rounded bilge design it handles all in rough water. Deeper sides and cross-sectional area and greater stability

14' Round Bottom Boat

2278AF21000—A longer, deeper and wider 14 foot round bottom boat. A roomy boat for family pleasure, fishing or general all around use. Extruded aluminum gunwales—4 aluminum seats to minimize spray rails. Heavy hydro press formed sides having no wood structural members. Wood used for motor cushions only. More for your money than ever before. Can be carried on your car or trailer—ideal for the medium size family up to 10 H.P. Maximum width 52" stern width 45" stern depth 15" bow depth 24". CLEVELAND-FORMGRADER EQUIPMENT

THE CLEVELAND FORMGRADER

A machine to cut form trenches quickly and accurately. Only one operator and a Formgrader is needed to cut the form trenches for a whole day's run. A machine with a fine record of performance on such jobs as the Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana Turnpikes. Now equipped with a hydraulically operated cutter lift bar and power steering.

Through means of a pendulum controlled line gauge the operator is able to cut the form trench to the proper depth regardless of unevenness of the grade. The accuracy of the form trench is produced by following the mark on a hair spring line gauge and holding it against the grade.

Specifications

Weight of machine approximately 6500 lbs. Operated by a 65 HP governor controlled gas engine: available with either a 12" wide traction wheel or a crawler track drive. Hydraulically operated cutter lift bar and power steering. Machine cuts an 18" wide form trench, thus allowing for even the widest base forms.

FORM TAMPER

A machine that tamps the earth under both sides of the forms so as to prevent settling and at the same time sprays form oil on the inside of the form. A Form Tamper with just one man operating it, in a few hours will tamp and oil the forms for a full days run. Made in right and left hand models so that if a contractor wants to do the tamping job twice as fast, one machine can go down the right forms and one machine can go down the left forms. The Form Tamper meets State Specifications—Insures accuracy, eliminates costly, time consuming hand tamping. Does higher quality work at lower cost

Specifications

Both models powered with a Briggs & Stratton 3 HP engine with crank starter. Equipped with a gravity feed form oil tank. Oil sprayed on forms by engine exhaust. Equipped with hinged pneumatic rubber tired transportation wheel suspended to fold back under machine in central position so as to distribute weight and make for ease of handling. Equipped with tampers which operate simultaneously on ball and socket type bearings, spring actuated. Travels on forms 25 feet per minute. Weight of machine on forms 385 lbs.

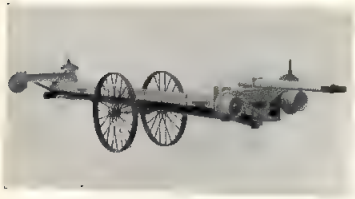
CLEVELAND-FORMGRADER EQUIPMENT

SUBGRADE SCRATCH TEMPLATE

A machine that, when run between the forms the pins scratch the grade showing whether or not it conforms to the pre-set crown specifications. This machine is unusually accurate because of its rugged, sagless construction and weight. The pins are strong, bend proof and are easily adjusted to the crown requirements.

Specifications

Side trucks allow the Template to roll easily and the wheels have machined treads for accuracy. The beam is adjustable vertically at the side trucks up to 16", (greater adjustments available upon request) thus allowing the machine to meet all conditions of pavement thickness. Extensions can be had in 1 ft. or 2 ft. increments to increase width of machine 4 ft. Available in combination road widths 8 ft. to 30 ft.



HEAVY DUTY TRAILGRADER

A machine that finishes the subgrade to exact contour just before the concrete is placed. Draw bars or cables are furnished for pulling.

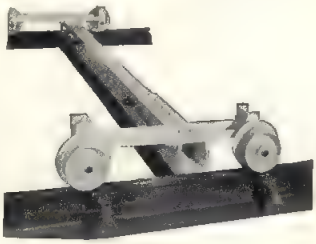
This machine is well built and designed for efficient economical and lasting service.

Specifications

Frame made of heavy H-Beam and ship channels. Blades are dish type made from high carbon steel and treated for maximum wear and cutting ability. Blades have a double cutting feature which reduces replacement costs by half. Blades are adjustable to conform to crown specifications. Vertical adjustment of 16" provided at each end truck. (Greater adjustments are available upon request.) In addition, rear wheels have a segment plate that allows for even finer vertical adjustment. The machine can be extended 4 ft. Machines 20 ft. in width and over, can be extended 6 ft. Machine has eccentric axles on rear. Transportation wheels standard equipment. Weight of the machine varies according to size from 3100 lbs. to 4700 lbs. Available in combination road widths from 10 ft. to 30 ft.

JUNIOR TRAILGRADER

A machine that finishes the subgrade to exact contour just before the concrete is placed. Adjustable draw bars or cables are furnished for pulling. Ideal for use where a grader is needed to do the job and yet the equipment should be light and easy to handle.



Specifications

Frame made of heavy H column giving strength and rigidity. Adjustable vertically to 16". Can be extended 2 ft. Blades are of high carbon steel, heat treated, single edge. Cutting blades are mounted with bolts through slotted holes thus allowing for setting to crown. Wheels are extra heavy with deep flanges and are run on oversize axles. Grease reservoirs in each wheel assures ample lubrication. Weight of machine varies according to size from 1200 lbs. to 1850 lbs. Available in combination road widths from 10 ft. to 22 ft.

CLEVELAND-FORMGRADER EQUIPMENT

BRIDGES

Single Finishing Bridge

A single platform bridge to span the forms used for finishing slab, as a cross over or to carry water or other equipment.

Specifications

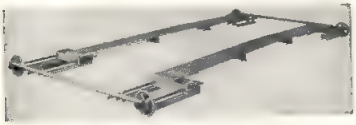
Mounted on four single flanged 12" diameter wheels. Deck consists of two 2"x8" planks securely fastened to a channel frame. Wheels are mounted on adjustable 1' to 2' extension type axles. Available in combination road widths from 9 to 30 ft.

Single Finishing Bridge with Hand Traction

Same as single finishing Bridge with the exception, the bridge deck has three 2"x8" planks and a hand traction attachment that enables one man to easily move the bridge forward on forms.

Single Finishing Bridge with Hand Traction and Belting Mechanism

Same as Single Finishing Bridge with hand traction plus the addition of a belting mechanism that is operated off the hand traction thus providing for an oscillating motion of the belting located at the rear of bridge.



STRAIGHT EDGES—ALUMINUM

Light weight, durable and highly accurate tools, easy to handle that assure accuracy when checking the finished slab.

Specifications

Special alloy aluminum blades weighing 4 lbs. The handles are made of seamless alloy aluminum tubing and a 12 ft. handle weighs only 3½ lbs. Handles fasten directly into the blade and are supported by aluminum braces on each side. A symetrical box section and durable thick web have been combined with reinforced top to give unusual strength. Available with either flat or round bottom. Blades are 10 ft. long. Handle lengths are 12 ft., 14 ft. and 16 ft.

Burlap Bridge

A single platform utility bridge ideal for carrying burlap, curing paper, water, tool boxes, etc.

Specifications

Mounted on four single flanged 12" diameter wheels. Deck consists of 16 pieces of 2"x6" tongue and groove type lumber fastened to a channel frame. Wheels are mounted on an adjustable 1 to 2 ft. extension type axle. Bridge for shipping purposes made up in two halves and spliced in center. Necessary channels, angles and splices furnished for quick assembly. Available in combination road widths from 8 to 30 ft.

Burlap Bridge with Hand Traction and Burlap Bridge with Hand Traction and Belting Mechanism

Also available in combination road widths from 8 to 30 ft.

Double Longitudinal Bridge

Consists of two single bridges tied together by means of two 2" pipes 20 ft. long. This bridge can be used for working a bull float or for edging center joints. This bridge also available with hand traction or hand traction and belting mechanism. (Refer to description matter above on these.)

STRAIGHT EDGES—STEEL

A rigid economical durable tool that assures accuracy. Ideal for dragging off high spots and for checking the slab.

Specifications

Blades are made of special steel, formed to meet the requirements of unusual strength, accuracy and light weight. A 10 ft. blade with a 12 ft. handle weighs only 12 lbs. Available with either flat or round bottom The standard blade is 10 ft. with a 12 ft. handle. However, also available in 12, 14 and 16 ft. blade lengths and 14 ft. and 16 ft. handle lengths.

For those who really know boats...

The Higgins
30' Cabin Cruiser

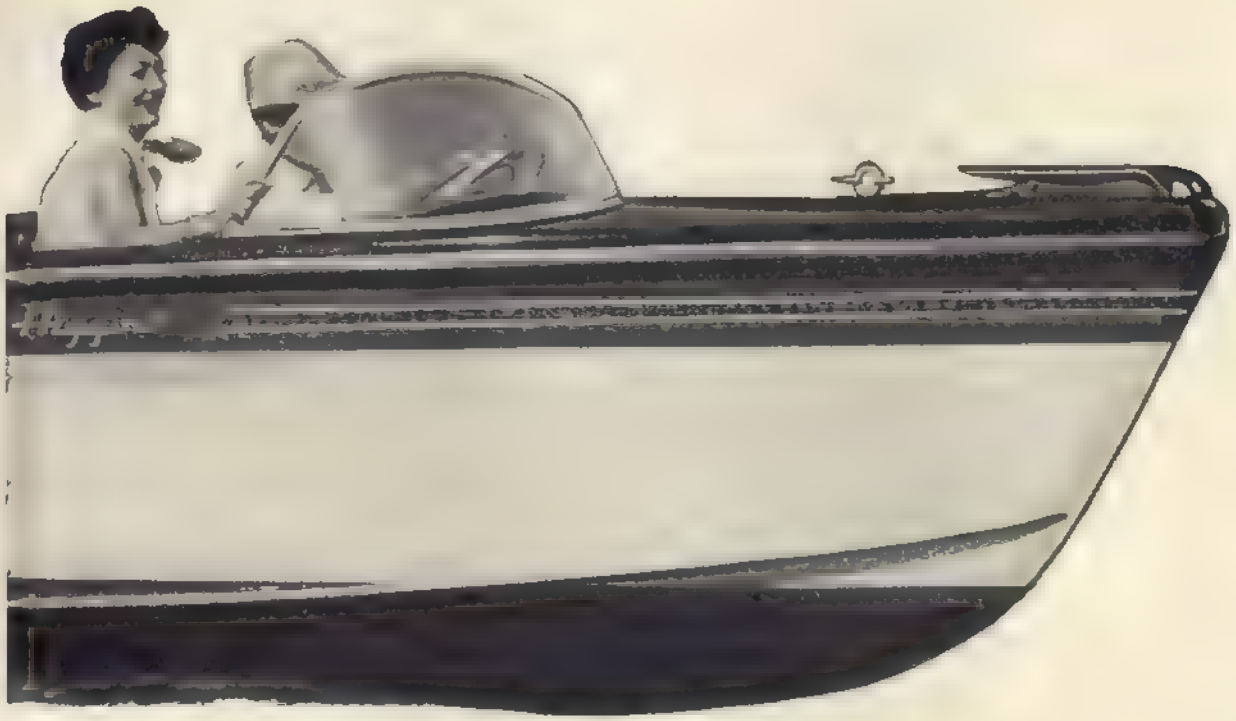
More luxury features as standard equipment than any other boat in its price range, including dual controls. Speeds to 30 M. P. H.

The Higgins
23' Express Cruiser

This ideal family boat has 4 individual berths. Quality appointments include sliding windows, foam rubber cushions, safety glass throughout. Speeds to 40 M. P. H.

The Higgins 14'
DeLuxe Outboard Runabout

An entirely new method of boat construction makes possible this lighter, yet stronger, runabout that does away with the usual dirt-catching cross frames. Speeds to 30 M. P. H. with 25 H. P. motor. Faster with larger motors.



The Higgins 17′ Sport Speedster

Perfect for skiing, this beautifully appointed 6-passenger is a level riding boat that in calm water can be turned in a 35-foot circle at full throttle. Speeds to 45 M. P. H., even faster with optional motors.

Only the Higgins '56 Fleet offers these quality advantages . . .

Higgins Modified PT Boat Hull Design

Every Higgins Model is built for rugged seaworthiness. The modified PT boat hull design has exceptional freeboard forward and a well flared bow for a dry, soft ride.

Higgins 5-Year Warranty

Higgins, the name that means dependability to our fighting forces, takes the finest marine mahogany, shapes every piece and pre-drills every hole for stainless steel screws, then submerges it in the best wood preservative discovery. This treatment makes wood more than ever the ideal boat material. Warranty is transferable, which means greatly increased resale value on every Higgins boat.

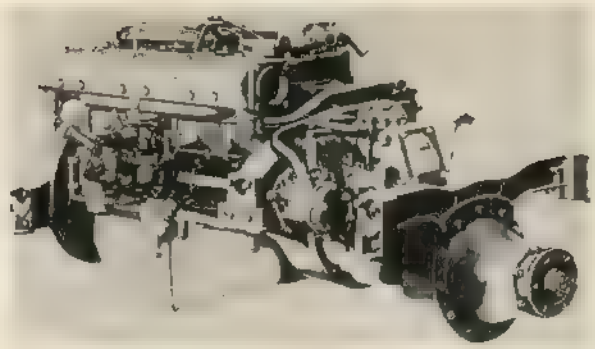
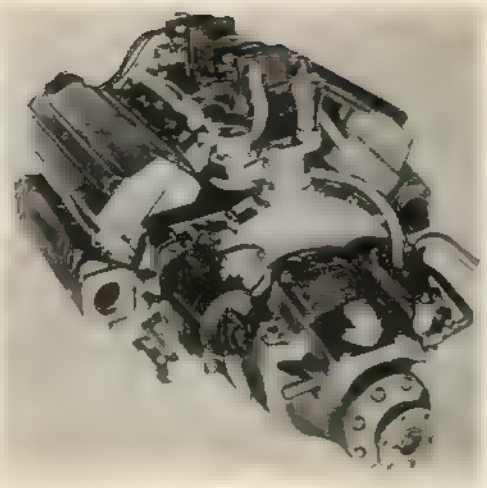
SPECIFICATIONS AND EQUIPMENT SUBJECT TO CHANGE OR MODIFICATION





Above: One of Chrysler's most popular models is the six cylinder Crown M47. Reduction gears are available in a wide choice of ratios. Right: The Imperial V Special, model M45S, a V-8 developing 200 hp, met with instant approval. Vee drives are available for Chrysler models in four reduction ratios.

1956 ENGINES

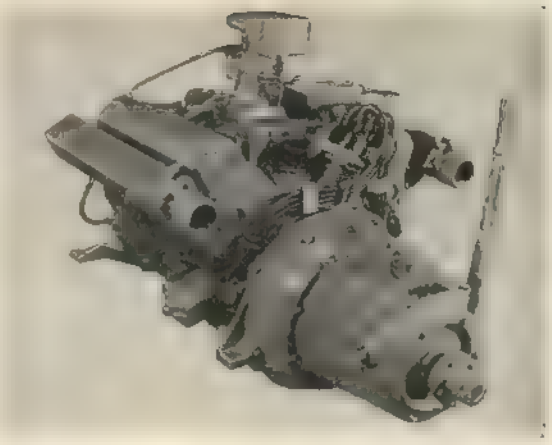
Chrysler recently added another achievement to their line—the Imperial V-250, a luxury class V-8 rated at 250 horsepower. Limited production on this engine will be continued in 1956. The engine's speed with maximum efficiency has proved an excellent combination Twin four-barreled downdraft carburetors, a specially designed "full race" camshaft, and a unique "opened up" design, deep-breathing manifold help attain the high-speed performance. Two compression ratios, 8.2 and 7.2 to 1, are available

The Imperial V-250 has 331-cubic inch displacement and utilizes the hemispherical-design combustion chamber. Standard equipment includes such premium items as hardened crankshaft, tri-metal bearings, all-gear driven accessories, positive displacement water pump, and mechanical tappets

The Imperial V-250 marks the third new V-8 engine Chrysler has recently introduced. The 200 hp Imperial V Special met with instant approval. Last year another hit proved to be the Royal V-Special (M-44S) rated 150 hp at 3800 rpm.

All Chrysler V-8 engines include overhead lateral valving with larger and wider spaced valves; completely water-jacketed cylinders; free-flow intake and exhaust porting; fully enclosed oil lines; and centered spark plugs which enable short flame travel through fuel during combustion.

Continuous field testing of Chrysler engines results in many new and improved features. For instance, pumping gears in the water pump are rubber-coated, which materially increases pump life. Better lubrication and longer engine life are assured by a removable cartridge-type full-flow oil filter which thoroughly cleans engine oil. Battery charge during trolling speeds can be maintained because of the Chrysler low cut-in generator.



Right: Osco Motors Corporation presents this new 160 hp overhead valve V8 Ford Marined Engine. With a piston displacement of 272 cubic inches it packs a lot of power in a relatively small space. This model is indicative of a steady trend toward the V-8's, which have achieved great popularity because of the power they produce within limited dimensions, saving boat space for better accommodations for cruising.

Five other engines comprise the Chrysler line including the Chrysler Ace (95 hp at 3200 rpm), the Ace Special (110 hp at 3600 rpm), the Crown (125 hp at 3600 rpm), Crown Special (135 hp at 3600 rpm) and the Majestic (160 hp at 3600 rpm).

Reduction gears are internal gear and pinion type with helical teeth. All gears are mounted on large ball bearings with centers adjustable to insure proper adjustment and quiet operation; available in 1.43, 2.04, 2.56, 3.17 or 3.95 to 1 reduction. Vee-drives are available in 1.13, 1.42 or 2.05 to 1 reduction

Reduction gears can be supplied to fit practically any type hull with four different mounting positions, up, down, left or right.

Additional features include three water-jacketed exhaust assemblies; a single outlet assembly for in-line 6-cylinder engines, and optional single or dual outlet assembly for V-8 engines.

Hydraulic controls continue as an optional feature. Radio shielding has proved effective in the elimination of electrical interference which complicates ship-to-shore communication. Sodium-filled, stellite-faced exhaust valves are standard on Crown Special, Majestic, Imperial V Special, Royal V Special and Imperial V 250.

OSCO MOTORS

Osco Motors Corporation announces for 1956 the new 160 hp overhead valve V8 Ford Marined engine of 272 cubic inches.

This packs a lot of power in relatively short overall length and provides additional fore-and-aft room for increased cabin and cockpit areas. Commercial fishermen welcome additional fishwell capacity as well as the universal serviceability of this basic Ford product.

The new engine line now embraces 12-volt electrical systems either negatively or positively grounded. Standard marine models use duplex carburetion although "quad" carburetion for increased horsepower output is available as optional equipment. High-ported Circuit-Flo exhaust manifolding and elevated starting motor are featured. Engine cooling is accomplished with single water pump in conjunction with built-in thermal well for uniformity of distribution and temperature control.

For 1956 Osco also announces an expanded line of Convo marine conversion kits, parts, reversing gears and accessories for all popular Ford-manufactured engines. Catalogues may be had by addressing the company at 3-627 N. Lawrence St., Phila. 40, Penna.

COLORFUL DINNERWARE...
FOR CASUAL AND FORMAL SERVING

PERSIAN GARDEN

By Homer Laughlin. This lovely new pattern on Cavalier shape captures much of the feeling and beauty of traditional Persian folk-art. Softly blended green and white harmonize perfectly with the generously wide teal green rim with its rich silver edge and verge line. A dressy adornment for the formal table.

28-1076-2250 53-Piece Set. Wt. 31 lbs. . . . . Retail 32.00
28-1075-4095 93-Piece Set. Wt. 90 lbs. . . . . Retail 58.50

(The glass illustrated with setting is German Lead Crystal, found on page 502)

STARDUST

By Homer Laughlin. Sparkling white blossoms, gracefully placed on a soft blue background, suggest a clear, cool summer night, and lend a fresh appeal to the already popular Skytone shape. To complete the effect, white handles and platinum trimlines pick-up the silver tones of your table flatware and furnish just the right accent when blended with the very delicate shade of blue of the china.

28-1077-1600 53-Piece Set. Wt. 36 lbs. . . . . Retail 22.95

(The glass illustrated with setting is Hazey Crystal, found on page 503.

SHASTA DAISEY

By Taylor, Smith and Taylor. A wispy spray of ochre and yellow brown-centered daisies with green leaves adorn each piece, color-keyed to a shaded summer yellow trimming. The cup handles have comfortable finger-rest knotches; saucers and plates have the modern up-swept flair. Smooth, durable, heavily glazed pottery dinnerware.

28-1046-1750 53-Piece Set. Wt. 35 lbs. . . . . Retail 27.95

JACK STRAW

By Salem China. Modernistic linear abstractions in red, gray, and black give a hand-painted effect as the motif of this durable-weight dinner service. The design is on a pottery background of blue-stippled bone-white — the saucers are interesting accents in black with a corresponding motif of red, gray and white. Thoroughly color-locked with high glaze for protection of dish-washer fading.

28-1034-2500 53-Piece Set. Wt. 36 lbs. . . . . Retail 39.95

DUTCH PRINCESS

By American Limoges. An interesting provincial flower motif rims the dinnerware in the centers is a girl holding a water jug interestingly encircled by two parrots resting in rim-correlating accents. The outstanding colors of the pattern are black, rust, green and ochre. Interesting are the molded scallops edging the plates and saucers and tying-in with the lower section of the cups.

CARNIVAL

By W. S. George. Briskly modern, durable pottery pieces in a decorator color-coordinated dinnerware set that's so versatile in use. Three times a day, for snacks, or even parties, its brown-and-lime alternate-striping never fails to be refreshing. Solid-color serving pieces, striped tops and plates — everlastingly underglazed. Linens to match make the modern-color set even more effective.

28-1065-1820 53-Piece Set. Wt. 35 lbs. . . . . Retail 30.50

BLUE DANUBE

Through the ages, Blue Danube China has attained the highest pinnacle of world-wide popularity. This favored design, beautifully decorated in true Meissen Blue on translucent oyster white china, personifies simplicity and charm and harmonizes pleasantly with all settings from Early American to modern. Of old-tradition elegance, the china is well glazed for permanent color preservation.

28-1031-3730 53-Piece Set. Wt. 37 lbs. . . . . Retail 53.95

SCANDIA

By Edwin M. Knowles. A high-colored bouquet, billowing and wistful, gives an air of Scandinavian charm to this dinnerware set. The novel treatment of the iris, blue bells, daisies, and ferns in their beautiful tones of red, yellow, green, and blue, add a refreshing sparkle to the new and classic "Accent" shape by Knowles. A perfect choice, well color-glazed, for the modern table.

28-1054-2145 53-Pc. Set. Wt. 36 lbs. . . . . Retail 30.95

MIDNIGHT. By Taylor, Smith, and Taylor. Modern china dishes, different enough to be interesting, and refreshing enough for every day. Black snow-flakes are scattered with abandon over white backgrounds. To accent the black design, a solid black is used on the cup's outside, creamer's inside, and sugar's outside 28-1025-2385 53-Pc. Set Wt. 35 lbs. 35.55

GERMAN LEAD CRYSTAL. Diamond-brilliant and dew-drop clear German Lead Crystal in a new, modern design. Completely smart, simple, imported glassware for impressive serving 12-oz. goblets and highballs; 6-oz. cocktails.

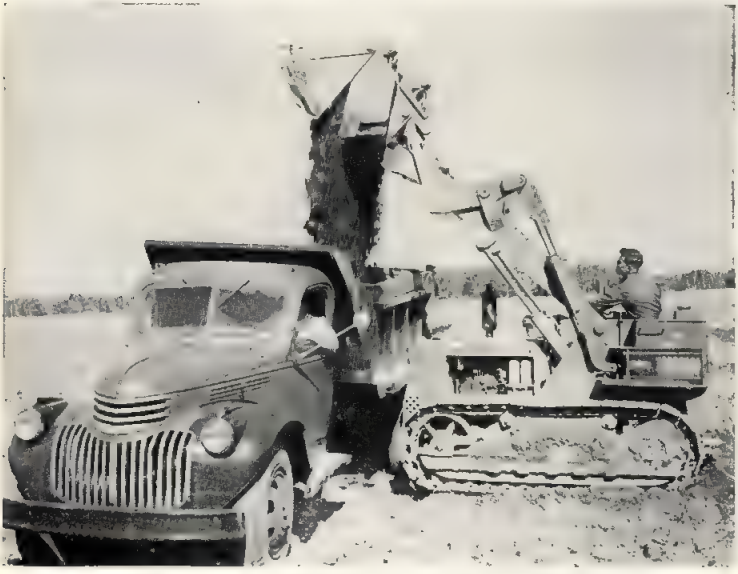
DROTT "Four-In-One" SKID SHOVEL

Manufactured for Models TD-6, TD-9 and TD-14 International Crawler Tractors



Versatility PLUS!

The new patented and exclusive Four-In-One Skid-Shovel enables you to do a variety of jobs that previously required four separate attachments. A slight movement of a hydraulic control lever will give you a unit that can do anything from loading and finished grading to unmatched performence in Sanitary Fill operations. Just point the indicator rod to any one of the four positions and the Four-In-One is ready to perform the selected operation with the greatest degree of efficiency. It's as simple as that. When viewing the Four-In-One, it is always easy to think of another basic position in which it may be set, however, the following are the four basic positions of the new Drott Four-In-One:

AS A SKID-SHOVEL—In the Skid-Shovel (front end loader) position, the Four-In-One has the same roll back at ground level—pry-over-shoe Break Out Action as the Drott Skid-Shovel. Exclusive bottom dump feature as illustrated above gives you an additional 2½ feet of dumping clearance over competitive loaders in the same capacity range.

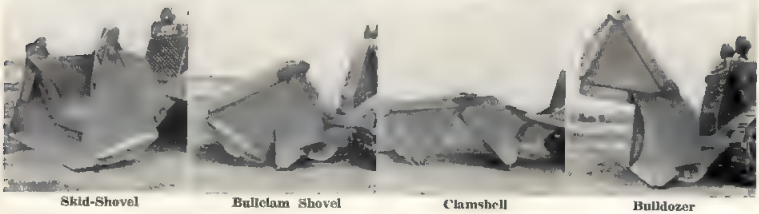
AS A BULLCLAM SHOVEL—Performs all Sanitary Fill operations in the same efficient manner as the well-known Drott Bullclam Shovel. Loads bucket with unique scraper-like action (see illustration opposite page). Grading and leveling is accomplished with a special depth control gauge.

AS A CLAMSHELL—The clamshell is ideal for picking up stock piled or other loose material in close quarters. When loaded and transporting, the bucket may be rolled back and semi-skidded on the ground as in the Skid-Shovel operation.

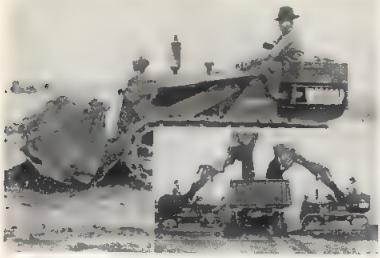
AS A BULLDOZER—With clam open, the bulldozing position shows both dozer cutting edge and loader shoes on ground. Depth of cut is accomplished through radius control, that is, the degree of cut is regulated by the forward and backward pitch of the blade over the loader shoes, rather than by lifting and lowering of pushbeams as on conventional loaders and Bulldozers. The pushbeams may be lifted as desired, too.

59-3-56

New DROTT "Four-In-One" Multiplies Loader Utility



Skid-Shovel | Bullclam Shovel | Clamshell | Bulldozer



SKID SHOVEL—With the clam fully closed, loading is accomplished by rolling the bucket forward to the desired depth of cut. The bucket also has the same 42° rollback at ground level—pry-over-shoe Break Out Action as the Drott Skid-Shovel. Skid-Shoe transportation at ground level combines excellent balance with 360° visibility. Photo inset illustrates both bottom and forward dump features. By employing the bottom dump, more than two feet is added to the dumping height of the Skid-Shovel.

BULLCLAM SHOVEL—Performs all phases of sanitary fill operations as efficiently as the well-known Drott Bullclam Shovel. The design of the curved clam, plus a special wearplate, brings an ironing, crushing and compacting action ahead of the clam as it moves forward. When loading, the clam acts as a depth gauge. The degree of clam opening regulates the depth of cut. As the Bullclam moves ahead, material boils into the bucket with a scraper-like action. By loading in this manner, a smooth even surface is always created for the tractor to pass over.

CLAMSHELL—By opening the clam wide and rolling the unit forward, the Four-In-One is transformed into a clamshell for picking up stock-piled or other loose materials. The clamshell is brought down on the loose material and closed into the pile. The loaded clamshell is then rolled back on the skidshoes for ground level transportation. This entire operation is done hydraulically by the operator, while the tractor stands still.

BULLDOZER—With clam open, the rear of the bucket becomes the dozer moldboard. Through Drott's exclusive radius control, the degree of cut is regulated by the forward and backward pitch of the blade over the loader shoes rather than by the lifting and lowering of the push beams. However, the push beams may be raised or lowered as desired, too. This unique method of pitching the blade over the loader shoes makes depth control practically a precision operation, with little skill required on the part of the operator.

DROTT GRUBBER BLADES

For International Bulldozers* and Bullgraders (TD-9, TD-14A and TD-18A)

The teeth in Drott Grubber Blades are manufactured of high tensile Manganese Molybdinum steel. Each tooth is designed to withstand four times the drawbar pull of the tractor, and they are guaranteed against breakage for life. The teeth are also individually mounted and adjustable for spacing. Angle of tooth penetration can be varied from normal position used for the deep uprooting of stumps and rocks to an extreme forward pitch for a raking action used for clearing brush or cutting through sod.

On all International Bulldozers that have the push beams welded to the moldboard, Drott grubber blade assemblies will be furnished complete with push beams.

MOTOR BOATING presents 1956 ★ OUTBOARD ★ MOTORS ★

EVINRUDE

Designed to fulfill optimum requirements for power and style, the 30 hp electric-starting Lark is the aristocrat of Evinrude's 1956 line of outboard motors. Mechanically, the Lark is identical to the Big Twin and produces speeds up to 30 mph. It is finished with bright red and chrome trim, two shades of gray and chrome inscriptions on white. A chrome door-type hood encloses waterproofed control knobs.

The 30 hp electric-starting and standard Big Twins provide speeds up to 30 mph at 4500-5000 rpm for large outboard runabouts, cruisers, off-shore fishing craft, and water-skiing. The Big Twins represent a sensible quantity of power for heavy duty outboard motor applications.

With the incorporation of the Cruis-Throttle which allows a 20% fuel saving and the special stall-preventing low speed throttle adjustment, the Big Twins are most economical.

All 30 hp units are fitted with a special manual lock which holds the motor in a fixed position during deceleration. The lock releases automatically if an underwater obstacle is struck.

The electric-starting Big Twin now includes a lighter and more compact starter motor and is also equipped with a standard manual standby starter cord.

The starter panel carries weather-proof buttons for both the starter and the electrically-operated choke used for "cold" starts. Starting panel, switches and junction box have been weather-proofed and treated to resist salt water corrosion.

Suitable for use with a large range of boats, the new electric-starting and the standard model 15 hp Fastwins deliver speeds from one to 25 mph at 4000-5000 rpm depending on boat weight and design. Its ability to throttle down to minimum trolling speeds has made the Fastwin an ideal model for off-shore fishing.

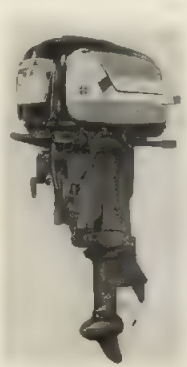
Evinrudes new 10 hp Sportwin provides speeds from a crawling troll to 20 mph. Like the Fastwin, the Sportwin is excellent in twin installations for offshore fishing. Sportwin has a lock which holds the motor rigid when the starter cord is pulled. This locking device, the Trim-Lok, also holds the motor in place when in reverse gear and during sudden deceleration.

The 7.5 hp Fleetwin is ideal for light boats whose structure demand even, continuous, power. Fleetwin starting, benefiting from the Eas-O-Matic flywheel, takes the chore out of starter-cord pulling. Weighing only 56 pounds, the Fleetwin can be easily carried from car to boat.

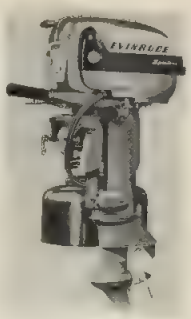
Smallest of the motors to be engineered with Evinrude's Aquasonic—soundproofing on water—principles, the 5.5 hp Fisherman bids fair to be the inshore angler's pet motor. It boasts four hours of continuous high-speed operation on a single tank full of gasoline and weighs only 51 pounds.

The 3 hp 32-pound Lightwin stows easily in any automobile luggage compartment. As a result, it has become especially popular with traveling hunters, fishermen and vacationers. Evinrude's Fisherman's Drive allows the motor to pass through thick marsh grass and weeds and over rocks, sand, mud, etc.

Roto-Matic speed control, a rotating grip mounted at the end of the steering handle which permits steering and speed control in a single combined operation, has been included in all 1956 models except the Lightwin and electric-starting Lark. For the latter, it is optional.



Evinrude's 30 hp electric-starting Lark is a deluxe model sporting a custom-built look.



The new Evinrude 10 hp Sportwin provides speeds from a crawling troll up to 20 mph.

Remote controls are available for all 1956 Evinrudes except the 3 hp Lightwin. Evinrude Simplex controls permit motor operation from any position in the boat.

Six-gallon Cruis-A-Day gas tanks are standard on all 30, 15 and 10 hp models. The four gallon Junior Cruis-A-Day tank is used with both the 7.5 hp Fleetwin and the 5.5 hp Fisherman.

All Evinrudes have aluminum alloy cylinders with hard iron sleeves cast integrally. Pistons are also of aluminum alloy. Propeller and drive shafts are stainless steel. Gears are case-hardened nickel steel, and corrosion resistant alloy is used for gear housings.

All except the 3 hp Lightwin feature Auto-Lift hoods allowing easy access to the engine.

A five-inch longer lower unit is available for all models.

JOHNSON MOTORS

Keeping pace with the trend toward larger boats and an increased interest in outboards for multiple uses, Johnson Motors announces a big 30 hp engine in three models and two new motors in the 15 and 7½ hp category, swelling the line to six motors, and a number of mechanical improvements in all models.

Results of fall production has proven the Johnson 30 to be a real "load" motor offering excellent performance for outboard cruisers, and the large runabout-type boats now coming to the forefront in popularity. These same field results give evidence that the performance difference between the new 30 and last year's 25 is even greater than the 5 hp differential might indicate.

Still more recently offered to the consumer public is the new Johnson Javelin, a customized electric-starting 30 which has been called the last word in functional design. Created by Brooks Stevens, renowned sports car designer, the Javelin is symbolic of the current outboard trend toward styling and eye appeal.

THE VANISHING WINDJAMMERS

As the windships pass, the few craft in active use early in '55 became focal points of popular interest.

The Pequod doubled as the bark Rachel.

The ship Balclutha as she was in the days of sail.

As the era of the deep-water and commercial sailing ship slowly draws to a close, an increasing interest is being shown in the old ships. A quarter of a century ago a fleet of idle windjammers at their lay-up berths drew scant attention, but today the movements of the solitary sailer brings press announcements. The awakening has come, but almost too late.

Not too many years ago our West coast ports (although mainly San Francisco) knew a great fleet of windships, the Star fleet owned by the Alaska Packers Association. Their fine vessels each summer would sail north to the fishing grounds, returning south in the fall loaded to their marks with canned salmon. For a whole decade after World War I the Stars continued to operate, but times were becoming hard for them as motor vessels were taking over, and before 1930 the fleet was laid up.

A few of the ships did go back to sea later. The Stars of Iceland, Lapland, Shetland and Holland crossed the Pacific to be broken up for scrap. The Star of Greenland was sold to Sweden. Renamed Abraham Rydberg, she was one of the grain fleet before World War II; she is still afloat, but today she is the Portuguese motorship Foz Do Duro, all engine and no sail at all. The pretty little Star of India, which was built in 1863 in the Isle of Man as the Euterpe, became a maritime museum at San Diego, where she is to this day. Other Stars became barges, notably the Star of Finland, a product of the A. Sewall yards of Bath, Maine, in 1899; in 1954 she was owned in Manila.

In recent times only one of the former Star fleet remained fully rigged, the handsome Star of Alaska, later called the Pacific Queen. Built in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1886, and launched as the Balclutha, she was typical of the last windjammers which then still carried bulk cargoes across the seven seas.

Flying the British flag, the ship spent her earlier years in the tough Cape Horn run, outward from the United Kingdom, often loaded deep with Welsh coal, bound for San Francisco. On her homeward passages her holds would be filled with lumber or the golden grain of the west. In 1899 the three-master 1954. One of the better known of all sailing ships, she had been launched at Dumbarton in 1869, originally intended for the tea trade. After eight annual voyages to China, she entered the Australian wool run, and was soon crowned the "Queen of the Wool Clippers." She went under the Portuguese flag in 1895, but in 1922 she was purchased by Captain Dowman, an Englishman who had recognized the old ship, although by then she had become a barkentine. The clipper, completely restored, remained in Falmouth Harbor, Cornwall, for sixteen years.

In 1938 the Cutty Sark was towed around to the Thames, where she joined at Greenhithe the Incorporated Thames Nautical Training College, used as a stationary training ship. In 1953 the College turned her over to the Cutty Sark Preservation Society under the patronage of H. R. H. The Duke of Edinburgh. A special dry dock has been built for her at Greenwich near the Royal Naval College and the National Maritime Museum.

On December 10, 1954, the clipper made her last run in the water as tugs took her from East India Dock to her dry berth bed. By her wheel stood Captain C. E. Irving, who, as a lad of thirteen, had served aboard the Cutty Sark in 1885 as an apprentice, and who had made three voyages in her. She was a far cry from the handsome, tall windship he had known so many years ago, now merely a bare hulk, but during the coming months she will be restored, and in the years to follow she will stand at the river's edge as a magnificent memorial to the merchant seamen who served in the days of the sail.

Another museum ship in the news was the Finnish barkentine Sigyn, a wooden vessel that had been launched in Sweden in 1887 as a bark. For many years she was a regular trader in Baltic waters, and often going as far afield as British ports. In 1939 she was sold to the "Abo Akademi" for use as a floating museum. During the war years there was no time nor materials for proper upkeep, and by 1946 she was in a very run-down condition. However, after an energetic group banded together to work on the vessel, she slowly was put back into condition. In the summer of 1954 a movie outfit hired the vessel for a sequence of sea-going shots. Once again she donned her suit of canvas. On September 20 she was under sail for the first time in seventeen years. For an hour and a half the cameras whirled away, grinding out the film; the finished result was fifteen seconds on the screen. Her work done, the Sigyn returned to her museum duties.

The iron ship Joseph Conrad, built as a Danish training vessel in 1882, and later renowned for her world voyage under the command of Alan Villiers, and the wooden whaling ship Charles W Morgan, built in New Bedford in 1841, both weathered successfully two severe hurricanes in their berths at the Mystic Marine Museum in the fall Once more the wind screeched through the rigging, again salt-filled spray swept their decks as of old when the lash of the storms struck. The Conrad tugged somewhat at her mooring lines; the Morgan in her sand berth stirred only slightly. Wild weather was an old story to them.

Another whaling ship was in the news—the Pequod of "Moby Dick" fame. In England, Elstree Pictures Limited, with John Huston producing and directing, commenced work on the filming of the Herman Melville historic classic.

The Swedish training schooner Falken.

Although many scenes could be shot in the studio, it was quickly decided that for true authenticity a real ship would be needed. The only whaling ship of the era in existence today, the Morgan, was available only as an example; another vessel would have to be located. On the East Coast of England was a former three-mast trading schooner, the Ryelands, which had been built in 1887. Some years ago she had been purchased by Walt Disney for use in his film "Treasure Island," and after a neat conversion had made a fairly respectable Hispaniola. Then, for awhile, she was used as a tourist attraction at Scarborough.

Thus it was the Hispaniola became the Pequod. She was not only completely re-rigged, but her features were altered so that even the most critical would have difficulty finding fault. In length, 102 feet, she was only three feet shorter than the Morgan; however, her 22-foot beam was five feet narrower. Perhaps the best description of the movie ship comes from the pen of Melville:

" . . . you never saw such a rare old craft as this same rare old Pequod. She was a ship of the old school, rather small if anything; with an old fashioned claw-footed look about her. Long seasoned and weather-stained in the typhoons and calms of all four oceans, her hull's complexion was darkened like a French grenadier's who has alike fought in Egypt and Siberia. Her venerable bows (Continued on page 240) came under the Stars and Stripes when she was purchased by San Francisco ship owners for use in the profitable Australian lumber trade.

A few years later the Balclutha became a salmon fishing vessel. Although wrecked in 1904, she was subsequently refloated and repaired. New owners, the Alaska Packers, renamed her Star of Alaska, and as such she spent the next quarter of a century, making the annual fishing voyage during the summer months. She was fitted out with bunks for more than 300 fishermen and cannery hands. Her last run north was in 1930, but at the end of a tow line. Upon her return to port she was laid up.

In 1932 there was some talk of turning the ship into a traveling aquarium, but the plans proved impracticable. Once more re-named, now the Pacific Queen, the aging ship sought a means of livelihood. Now and then the motion picture companies used her as a prop, notedly in Mutiny on the Bounty. For a year she appeared at the San Diego Exposition, billed as a pirate ship. Then she took a crew of Sea Scouts to the Galapagos; the Coast Guard towed her home.

World War II passed the square-rigger by. Deteriorating rapidly, forgotten by all but a few, she seemed destined for the scrap heap. However, Dame Fortune still had her in mind, and in the mid-summer of 1954 she was purchased by the San Francisco Maritime Museum.

Once more sporting her original name, Balclutha was taken to a fitting-out yard in Alameda, where the job of restoration has commenced. Local interest in the ship has been tremendous. Three of the leading shipyards around the Bay have lent without charge equipment necessary for the work to be done. Union workmen give a hand in their free time, asking no wages. Numerous firms have donated various supplies. Former crew members have offered advice as to the proper run of the rig and other forgotten details.

When eventually the task is completed, Balclutha, resplendent in her former glory, will make fast to famous Fisherman's Wharf, a tourist haunt along the 'Frisco waterfront. After the paying visitors have refilled her coffers, perhaps in two years, she will then move to her final, permanent base in Aquatic Park alongside the museum. There she will remain, a monument to the great days of sail.

A still more famous ship, the Cutty Sark, also joined the museum fleet in looked bearded . . . her masts stood stiffly up like the spines of the three old Kings of Cologne. Her ancient decks were worn and wrinkled, like the pilgrim-worshipped flag-stone in Canterbury Cathedral where Becket bled."

This was the vessel which Captain Ahab, played by Gregory Peck, took to sea with the help of Alan Villiers. Not mentioned by Melville, unseen by the filmgoers, was a General Motors diesel engine down in the hold driving a four-blade propeller, giving the whaler six knots in calm weather. Port scenes were shot in Youghal, Eire, whose waterfront had been built over to resemble New Bedford harbor of the 1840's. A duplicate of the ship was built on a movie stage set near London for some interior scenes, and a large but accurate model was used for the final climax of the picture.

In South American waters the bark Tellus, one of the trio of former guano-carriers, joined the fleet of useful but stationary vessels; now renamed Malaboo, she has become a floating yacht club anchored at Ancon during the summer and Callao in the winter. Originally the steel bark Evertsen, launched in Rotterdam, Holland, in 1891, she had for many years been active in the guano trade off the Peruvian coast, running out a couple of hundred miles to the islands to load fertilizer for the local sugar plantations. There was rumor that her consort, the bark Maipo, once a full-rigged ship built in Germany in 1893, might be purchased for use also as a clubhouse. As for the third member of the fleet, the iron four-mast bark Omega ex-the four-mast ship Drumcliff, a Greenock product of 1887, there was no news of her future. She is still in good condition.

Lawhill Spends Last Days At Lourenco Marques

Another four-mast bark drew a line or two in the newspapers in 1954, her obituary. The Lawhill, the old plodder which came from Dundee in 1892, has apparently reached the end of her journey. Her earlier years had been spent in the India-England jute run, followed later as a case oil carrier from the U. S. East Coast ports to the Far East. At the close of World War I she became a part of the Erikson Fleet under the Finnish flag, and in the following years was one of the better known "grain clippers" that carried Australian wheat around the Horn to England.

The Lawhill was not a fast ship. Her best run home with wheat in 1931 took all of 106 days; her last trip in 1939 was 140 days—ten days short of five months at sea. For all of that, she was a lucky ship, one of the best money-earners (she could load 4800 tons of wheat), and seldom in trouble. Fitted with many labor-saving devices, she was an easy ship on her crews. There was one occasion when most of her men had been shanghaied in 'Frisco. Captain J. C. B. Jarvis took his vessel 9000 miles across the Pacific with only fourteen other men on board to help him. One very unusual feature about her rigging was that her three topgallant masts were fitted abaft her lower and topmasts which were in one piece. Although it did not lend to her beauty, it made the job of furling the lower topgallants much easier.

During World War II she operated under the flag of South Africa, but after 1946 she found it increasingly difficult to find crews. Eventually she was laid up at Lourenco Marques. In 1953 there were reports that she had been sold to Italian ship-breakers. However, she never left her mooring until the fall of 1954, and then only to be towed outside the harbor to the mud flats. Her old hull had rusted through; now she can sit on the bottom out of everyone's way. She will probably never move again.

A few of the Lawhill's contemporaries are still afloat. The Pommern remained in Mariehamn, a final reminder to that port of the Erikson fleet. The Viking was moored in Gothenburg, used as a school. The now mastless Moshulu was a barge in Stockholm. The Padua and Kommodore Johnsen are lost behind the Iron Curtain in Russian hands. Only two remain to sail, Pamir and Passat. These vessels had been

TO MAKE YOUR SALES CLIMB

A locomotive laboring up-grade with a long string of cars . . . nothing gives such thrilling realism to even the simplest model railroad layout. And Authenticast has now made this kind of railroading fun easily available to every one of your customers. For the first time, you can stock the model railroad accessory every railroading fan has been waiting for — a set of NEW unbreakable plastic graduated trestles that makes railroading really three-D.

Every set will feature an instruction sheet that gives special hints for model railroading on uphill grades. Sheet also contains plans for ten separate layouts suggested for use with the HI-LO Trestle Set. Reverse side will show other Authenticast products . . . help stimulate your sales of these accessories.

Make no mistake. Authenticast HI-LO Trestle Sets will quickly become one of your best selling items year after year. We predict they'll become practically standard equipment, even for the "Christmas-time only" railroaders.

Here's why you'll find it easy to sell AUTHENTICAST HI-LO TRESTLE SETS !

permanently or set up as a temporary display. The possibilities for using these trestles are almost endless.

Realism — Like all Authenticast products, these trestles are faithful copies of the steel-beam prototypes in use today.

Simplicity — A strong selling point. Even the youngest train owner can use them. Built-in shoulder on each trestle automatically gives proper embankment for curves. No tools are needed.

Sturdiness — Important in selling for the younger crowd. Because they're NEW unbreakable plastic one piece construction, you'll have no worries about customer dissatisfaction. Authenticast trestles will last a lifetime.

tomers budget, yet it gives you a comfortable margin of profit.

Ideal for Gifts — The perfect answer for the customer who wants a railroading or hobby gift but "Doesn't know what to buy." HI-LO Trestle Sets are suitable for every age group, the skilled railroader or the youngster with an "electric train." Fits all popular gauges.

To help you sell, Authenticast is preparing a national magazine advertising campaign. Your customers will be asking for this set soon. Better stock up now.

HI-LO Sets literally "pull" customers into your shop. Be sure to display a set built into a layout — and one simply shown within its original die-cut carrier-type box!
